SOCIALISTS DRIVE REBELS FROM GATES OF MADRID IN MOST VIOLENT ENGAGEMENT OF SPANISH CIVIL WAR

BOARD TO REGAIN HOSPITAL CONTROL UNDER NEW PLAN

Compromise Reached at Conference Held Yesterday
Between Superintendent and Grady's
Surgical Staff Chief.

COUNCIL TO PASS ON PLAN APRIL 19

Eight of Trustees To Pass on Medical Staff
Restored by Amendment To Be Offered.

Grady hospital's board of trustees will be given full and complete control of policies and John Franklin, superintendent, will be vested with all executive and administrative power under a compromise amendment to an ordinance passed last Monday by city council and approved by Mayor Hartsfield.

Passage of the amendment will give the way for adjustment of the storm which has broken over Grady. It was said that Mayor Pro Tem I. Glover Hailey and Councilman John A. White, co-authors of the original ordinance, which stripped the board of its authority to direct and control the institution, drafted the new measure at a conference yesterday afternoon with Franklin, Dr. C. Davidson, chief of the surgical staff at Grady, and Bond, assistant city attorney. The amendment will be offered at council's meeting on April 19.

Board Gets Veto Power.
The modified ordinance gives the trustees the veto power over nominations to the staff, which Franklin may make, and also vests in the board the final action in passing on dismissal of trustees. Thus the board is given the right to pass on the medical staff. The original ordinance gave Franklin this authority and was one of the major storm centers.

Although Franklin as superintendent will be amenable to council and is elected for a four-year term, all policies of the hospital will continue to be formulated by the trustees, Hailey and White said.

It was learned yesterday that Franklin and the board of trustees were in open clash before the council action and reports were that Franklin would have been replaced as superintendent if council had not rushed to save him.

Hines Ouster Seen.
Early ouster of Dr. Joseph Hines, medical director of Grady, as presaged when Dr. Davidson insisted he is considered an "employee of the hospital in the same category as an orderly, and subject to Franklin."

Dual direction of Grady was even as the reason for passage of the ordinance, with Franklin and Hines at logger heads.
There have been sporadic movements to dismiss Hines for the past several months and Franklin yesterday asserted the original ordinance as passed by council "gave me no more authority than I had under the board up until about a year ago."

Franklin told those present he did not want the authority to direct the medical staff, asserting to layman should attempt to do that. He agreed to the proposed changes.

No Trustee Present.
No member of the board of trustees was present at the conference yesterday, although all had attempted to contact.

Premier Threatens To Call

By ARTHUR F. DEGREVE.

The Canadian government is watching closely, but keeping "hands off," swiftly moving developments which overnight shifted front line trenches of the capital-labor struggle from the automobile industry in Michigan to the embattled General Motors of Canada plant in Oshawa, Ont., it was indicated last night.

The situation, which holds a threat of international complications, was precipitated by a strike at the G. M. C. plant in Oshawa after refusal of the corporation to grant recognition to the United Automobile Workers of America, an affiliate of the Committee for Industrial Organization.

Canada Settlement Looms.
American organizers are involved and American officials of the UAW are directing the strike. A conference between Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn and union representatives Friday night indicated early settlement. The union, according to dispatches from Toronto, agreed to let the company ship parts from the plant if they were for ambulances, fire trucks and similar commercial vehicles. Earlier a clash threatened when union leaders announced they would oppose removal of the equipment.

Secretary of State Hull refused comment at a press conference in Washington on Hepburn's blistering statement assailing CIO organizers and officials as "labor racketeers."

LABOR FACTIONS GIRD FOR BATTLE ON NANCE OUSTER

Executive Board of Georgia Federation To Hear Green Demand for Nance Resignation at Meeting in Atlanta Tomorrow.

BOTH SIDES CLAIM SUPPORT OF LAWS

Fight Precipitated by Nance Activities in Organizing Affiliate to CIO Rival Labor Group.

Rival factions in Georgia's labor war over the demand by William Green, president of the American Federation, that A. Steve Nance resign the presidency of the state federation, yesterday were arming themselves preparatory to fighting it out tomorrow before the executive board of the Georgia federation.

Nance, president of the Georgia federation and storm center of the controversy, has refused Green's demand that he resign and yesterday apparently was satisfied to rest his case with the executive board and with the state federation's convention, meeting here on April 21-23.

Meanwhile, as Nance went ahead with his plans for the board meeting, George L. Gogge, southern representative of the A. F. of L., was in Birmingham, where he said he was going on "routine business."

Gogge has represented Green in efforts to oust Nance, allegedly because of Nance's activities as director of three units described by Green and Gogge as "dual to" the A. F. of L.

MORE PULP MILLS COMING IN—HERTY

Farm Chemurgy's Challenge Laid Down at Conference by Carl Fritzsche.

MACON, Ga., April 9.—Construction of 13 paper pulp mills now is under way in the south and three others will be announced in the next few weeks, Dr. Charles H. Herty, director of the pulp and paper laboratory, Savannah, said here today.

Dr. Herty told the Georgia Chemurgy Conference the mills would use pine as the raw material in manufacture of newsprint and kraft papers.

When completed and in operation, Dr. Herty said, the 13 mills already begun will employ 16,000 persons and will directly affect 80,000 people.

Foreign Agents Interested.
Dr. Herty said representatives of paper interests from Norway, Sweden, Finland, Canada, Australia and South America have visited the laboratory at Savannah looking into the possibility of establishing mills in the south.

He related his efforts during several years past to attract northern capital to the south for industrial development, but reiterated his hope that southern capital will be invested and that the profits from southern industry would remain in the south.

COURT BILL FOES ADOPT STRATEGY

Will Not Attempt To 'Soften' Measure To Win Wavering Senators' Votes

WASHINGTON, April 9.—(AP)—Opponents of the Roosevelt court bill indicated tonight they might fight any attempt to "soften" it by amendments which would tend to wind wavering senators to the support of the measure.

This strategy, though not finally agreed upon, was being favorably discussed as the bill's foes prepared for approaching executive sessions of the senate judiciary committee. In these sessions, the committee will express its sentiments on the bill and decide in what form it should be presented to the senate.

The opposition worked quietly between committee sessions at which three more witnesses testified against the bill. One of them, Dean William E. Masters, of the University of Missouri School of Law, asserted it means an "autocratic state."

Angell Criticizes Bill.
The committee also received a letter from James R. Angell, president of Yale University, saying the bill involves a "ravaging of the court," and that "no judiciary made up of political 'yes' men could maintain public confidence and respect."

Meanwhile, the court issue bobbed up on the floors of both houses of congress.

In the senate, Austin, of Vermont, making one of the first republican attacks on the bill, said that many of the delays in the procedure of the supreme court were requested by the Justice Department, and hardly resulted from congestion of the docket.

"I object to making use of the mere statement that there were

Martial Law Asked In Cairo Relief Riots

CAIRO, Ill., April 9.—(UP)—Sheriff Lloyd Oller tonight asked Governor Henry Horner to place Cairo under martial law as a result of rioting at Alexander county relief headquarters here, in which four persons were injured, one seriously.

Cairo was quiet late tonight after rioting by 2,000 WPA and levee workers and relief clients who stormed the relief office and, when their demands were refused, sought guns at a hardware store. It was not known how many of the rioters had obtained arms, according to Oller.

FLEEING FASCISTS CUT LIKE WHEAT

300 Killed With Dynamite and Hundreds of Others Dead and Thousands Wounded in 2-Day Battle

By HENRY GORRELL.

MADRID, April 10.—(Saturday) Loyalist defenders of Madrid, driving General Francisco Franco's Rebels from the city's gates in one of the greatest onslaughts of the civil war, early today killed 300 insurgents with dynamite in suburban Carabanchel.

The Loyalist militia crossed the Manzanares river on the southwest fringe of the city and wiped out an entire block of houses with crude dynamite bombs.

The 300 Rebels, comprising two companies of Franco's picked men, were buried beneath tons of debris, military dispatches said.

Government leaders announced that the Rebel ring around the capital had been pushed back on 11 sectors encircling the city, from Pardo park on the northwest to Estradadura road around Carabanchel.

Hundreds were said to have been killed and thousands wounded in the fighting that began at dawn yesterday and continued unabated early today.

Yesterday's battle, which I witnessed from among the shell holes, mangled bodies and deafening roar of artillery in Casa de Campo park on the western outskirts, seemed to be the most violent of any in this nearly nine-month-old war.

10,000 Rebels Trapped.
The Loyalists announced 10,000 Rebels were trapped in University City, north of the Casa de Campo, their retreat cut off by murderous shell fire raking the only bridge leading back to the park.

Striking all sides without warning at dawn, Loyalist armies hammered with all the might at their command against General Francisco Franco's steel ring around Madrid.

General Jose Miaja, commander in chief of the Madrid front, was jubilant as he watched his picked troops drive against the enemy in a wide circle.

Miaja's army, led by the death-mocking recruits of the International brigade, and his machine gun squads pushed through the heavily wooded park—now a field of gaunt, shell-riddled trees—while the fleeing enemy fell like wheat before a scythe.

Battle in Woods.

Further north, another army of Loyalists drove against El Pardo woods, attempting to cut in behind the Rebels retreating from the hell of the Casa de Campo.

I lay, flattened on my stomach, in no man's land with Loyalist cannon booming behind me and Rebel shells whistling toward me. The firing of Loyalist guns sounded like the banging of a furnace door, then a screaming shell landed rumbling road as the shell landed.

The Loyalists went over the top at 4 a. m. after a night of sporadic artillery fire on all Madrid fronts.

Hemingway Turns Out.

At 8:30 a. m. Ernest Hemingway, American novelist, banged on my hotel door, shouting: "All hell's going on."

We trotted and ran toward the north station, near the Manzanares river on the west, and dozens of ambulances carrying wounded passed us, moving slowly to ease the pain of the wounded.

Near the station we ducked rifle

Grumm was connected with the Los Angeles brokerage house of G. Brahears & Company, which specializes in the financing of aircraft manufacturers.

OLD HIGHWAY BOARD DENIES DEBT CLAIM OF STATE AUDITOR

Wisdom Showing Unfair, Says McRae and Heck.

The three members of the State Highway Board during former Governor Talmadge's administration took issue yesterday with a recent audit by State Auditor Tom Wisdom showing the board had a debt of $3,113,214.41 on December 31, 1936.

The former board members—W. E. Wilburn, Max McRae and

Watermelon Time Not Sleepin' Time

The witness couldn't remember when it was he saw James E. McElroy hold up Coley Daniel and rob him of $90.

The defense attorney asked him to give an approximation. "Boss, it must have been summer time as I wuz eating watermelon, I remembers," John Hill of near McDonough, replied.

"To tell the truth, you were asleep and didn't see anything. Isn't that right?" the lawyer asked.

"No, suh, boss. I just can't eat watermelon in my sleep."

McElroy was sentenced to serve from four-to-seven years.

John Heck—signed a written statement asserting the fiscal year of the board was from July 1 to June 30, and that the audit was in "the middle of the year."

The statement said: "The report of the auditor also discloses the following cash on hand December 18, 1936: Cash in banks $3,320,826.72; cash due from state treasurer $3,052,806.06; federal vouchers in transit $119,664.30; total cash on hand December 31, 1936, $6,493,297.08.

"Does this look like the highway department was in debt?"

The former board members quoted Wisdom as saying:

"After providing for all contractual obligations not yet mature (construction contracts incomplete), all proposed expenditures for administration and maintenance, represented by balance of appropriations and specific allotments, and all outstanding encumbrances and resources, there is a deficit of state funds of $3,113,214.41 at December 31, 1936."

The statement declared "in fairness to the highway board as then constituted and to the people of Georgia, the auditor should have stated that while he took into consideration all of the obligations of the highway board to June 30, 1937, in arriving at above deficit, he did not give credit for the estimated receipts to June 30 as shown by his audit, amounting to $5,712,362.96."

The former board members said with these taken into account "... there would be a balance on hand June 30, 1937, of state funds of $2,599,148.55."

Leaders in Grady Hospital Fight Map Changes To Restore Harmony

Leaders in the factional row at Grady hospital are shown above as they engaged in a peace conference yesterday afternoon to map a compromise proposal designed to re-establish harmony. Shown left to right are Dr. T. C. Davidson, chief of the surgical staff at Grady; Acting Mayor G. C. Hailey, Councilman John A. White, and John B. Franklin, Grady superintendent, around whom the battle rages.

CONTROL OF GRADY TO REST IN BOARD

Samuel C. Dobbs Sr., chairman of the board, in order that discord between the board and council might be wiped out.

Dobbs was out of the city, as was Arthur Harris, vice chairman, and the conference proceeded without any board member being present. It was conceded, however, that passage of the amendment probably will do much to avoid threatened resignation of board members when that body convenes again next week.

The situation was extremely tense immediately following Hartsfield's approval of the ordinance and there were reports citizen members of the board would quit their posts.

Beck not satisfied. Beck last night asserted he believes Franklin is still vested with "too much authority" and that trustees "should be given absolute control and free rein in controlling and administering Grady hospital."

"This amendment is a step in the right direction, however," Beck said. "If the board is to be made a figurehead as the original measure provided, there is no incentive for responsible businessmen to devote the time necessary to Grady. It would be a travesty of justice and common decency to expect them to submit to the original ordinance."

Under the amended ordinance, Franklin will nominate the medical staff and the board of trustees will elect. This provision may be the source of future clashes as the board can elect only those nominated by Franklin. If the board should not confirm Franklin's nomination, it could ask for another nomination and this might continue indefinitely. The board and Franklin might reach a stalemate in such an instance and another flareup might result at Grady.

Franklin will have the right to suspend internes at Grady without confirmation of the board of trustees. The only restriction on Franklin is that if he fired one, there would be an appeal to the interne committee, composed of doctors, and thence to the board.

These provisions were pointed to by observers as a possible source of future dissension between the board and Franklin.

SUSPECT IS RELEASED IN LOUISVILLE KILLING

LOUISVILLE, Ga., April 9.—Lumus Lamb, held in jail here since the death of W. J. Barganier in Lamb's roadhouse the night of March 27, today was released after a commitment hearing before Justices of the Peace K. M. England and W. S. Murphy.

TWO LABOR GROUPS PREPARE FOR FIGHT

mand, as they will be presented to the executive board tomorrow, were outlined at state federation headquarters yesterday as follows:

1. Expel all local unions affiliated with suspended international unions.

2. Demand resignation of A. Steve Nance as president of the Georgia Federation of Labor and should he fail to resign, remove him from office.

3. Remove offices of the Georgia Federation of Labor from their present location adjoining Nance's office.

4. Permit no delegate to be seated or allowed to participate in the convention of the Georgia Federation of Labor who is on the pay roll of or connected with any suspended union.

Nance Defies Ouster.
Nance has stated he has no intention of quitting, declaring himself a member of an international union in good standing and taking the position that Green has no authority to order his removal.

State labor officials yesterday pointed to the constitution and laws of the American Federation of Labor as refuting Green's contention he can disfranchise any union in good standing with the state body, quoting from Article XI, Section 8:

"No central body or department affiliated with the American Federation of Labor shall reject credentials presented by a duly elected or appointed delegation of a local union chartered by a national or an international union having affiliated with the American Federation of Labor; provided, however, that upon written charges signed by at least three delegates, any delegate of an affiliated local union may, upon conviction after a fair trial, be expelled or suspended. Action of the central body under this section shall be subject to appeal to the executive council of the American Federation of Labor, and no delegation representing local unions affiliated as herein described shall be suspended or expelled until like action is taken."

The same officials said they could find no provision anywhere in the laws of the Georgia Federation of Labor, for removal of the president or any other elective officer, nor for the expulsion of union locals, except the provision for automatically dropping a local for nonpayment of the per capita tax.

Dodge To Aid Nance.
Another development of yesterday was an announcement by Dr. Witherspoon Dodge, who has been in the ministry in Atlanta more than 15 years, that he would preach his last sermon on the radio tomorrow and then join forces with Nance's TWOC organization.

Reports the past week that Roy V. Harris, speaker of the Georgia house of representatives, had under advisement an offer to become general counsel for the TWOC in the southeast, were set at rest last night by further information that Harris would decline the post.

The anti-Nance faction has claimed it can control a majority of delegates to the state federation convention and of the executive board, while Nance's friends, while not declaring definitely what they expect, expressed the belief the board would "do the right thing."

GOUGE WILL CONFER WITH ALABAMA GROUP
BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 9.—(P)—George L. Gouge, southeastern representative of the American Federation of Labor, came here today but said his visit had nothing to do with an expected showdown between the Alabama Federation of Labor and its members and officers who are affiliated with the Committee for Industrial Organization.

Gouge, personal representative of William Green, president of the A. F. of L., said he conferred with V. C. Finch, field representative of the NLRB, prior to a trip to New Orleans.

He plans to return here, Gouge said, but not earlier than next week, and confer with both sides in the controversy between the state federation and the CIO. Four CIO unions were "read out" of the Birmingham Trade Council recently.

Business Progress In Recovery Parade

Georgia Pay Rolls Boosted by $1,000

COVINGTON, Ga., April 9.—(P)—Officials of the Bibb Manufacturing Company's mills at Forterdale near here announced wage increases ranging from 5 to 10 per cent for employees in all departments.

Company officers estimated this would boost pay rolls by $1,000 a week.

Marked Improvement In Nation's Business

WASHINGTON, April 9.—(P)—The Commerce Department said today business showed "marked improvement" during the first quarter of 1937.

Industrial production was one-fifth greater than for the comparative period last year, the department said.

Kingsport's Plants Increase Wages

KINGSPORT, Tenn., April 9.—(P)—Approximately 4,000 employees of two of Kingsport's largest plants will get pay increases within the next three weeks.

Officials said the present wage boost with recent increases raises the annual pay roll for hourly workers more than $850,000 annually.

Farm Products Show Earnings

NEW YORK, April 9.—(P)—Beatrice Creamery Company, producer of farm and dairy products, with operations throughout the country, reported for fiscal year ended February 28 consolidated net profit of $1,583,617 equal after preferred dividends to $2.49 a share on common stock.

This compared with net profit of $855,150 in previous year, or 41 cents a share on the common.

OHIO AUTO LICENSES AID ACCIDENT CARE

Allocation for Hospitalization of Indigent Victims Is Described Here.

Citing Ohio legislation allocating 19 cents from each automobile license sold in the state to a fund for care of indigent highway accident cases, John R. Minnix of the Cleveland city hospital, yesterday urged delegates to the Southeastern hospital conference to advocate similar laws in their states.

From this fund," he said, "Ohio hospitals received $400,000 with which to treat these charity cases last year. With this law in effect, no one need bear the brunt of this charity work. Under it, we care for our own people and visitors who are victims of automobile accidents on the public highway."

Birmingham Selected

The delegates yesterday selected Birmingham as the 1938 convention city and it was indicated the states of Louisiana, Mississippi and Tennessee will join Georgia, Florida and Alabama in forming the Southeastern Hospital Association. Others will probably join at the organization meeting this morning, it was said.

Approximately 250 hospital officials and doctors from the 10 southern states and specialists from all sections of the country are registered for the convention.

At the only public session of the conference last night, social diseases and tuberculosis were discussed by two Atlanta physicians. Dr. C. C. Aven described tuberculosis as a menace to the community and urged a continuous effort on the part of all to combat it.

Social Diseases

Speaking on social diseases, Dr. James Edgar Paulin advocated wide publicity as a means of educating the public to the great danger.

Featured on the morning program is an address by Dr. A. J. Hockett, superintendent of the Touro Infirmary, New Orleans, on "Distributed Payment Plan for Hospital Service or Group Hospitalization."

The morning session yesterday was devoted to a discussion of the problems of the small hospitals and was led by Dr. W. S. Rankin, director of the Duke endowment.

GIANNINI REPORTED SEEKING RAIL BLOT

Paper Declares Banker Dicker for Mid-America Holdings.

NEW YORK, April 9.—(P)—The New York American says in a copyrighted article that Amador P. Giannini, prominent California banker, is negotiating to purchase control of the $3,000,000,000 Va Sweringen railroad empire.

The paper says it learned that Bancamerica-Blair Corporation, investment unit controlled by the Giannini interests, is seeking to buy the Allegheny Corporation share holdings of Midamerica Corporation, the holding unit of the last fall by George A. Ball and George H. Tomlinson when they purchased the Van Sweringen and real estate holdings at an auction conducted by J. P. Morgan and Company, to satisfy default loans aggregating $48,000,000.

The shares now repose in the George and Frances Ball foundation, the charitable organization set up by the Muncie, Ind., glass manufacturer yesterday to receive his common stockholdings in Midamerica. Control of the Van Sweringen railroads is vested in the Allegheny shares.

The American says negotiation for the sale of the Allegheny shares to Bancamerica-Blair is said to have passed the negotiation stages. Midamerica owns an excess of 2,000,000, or close to 10 per cent, of the Allegheny share.

$3,100,000 OFFERED BY DOHENY ESTATE

Compromise on Oil Claim Awaits Action by U. S. Attorney General.

LOS ANGELES, April 9.—(P)—A proposed $3,100,000 cash settlement of governmental claim which hark back to the oil scandals of the Harding administration awaited United States approval today.

The amount, together with the relinquishment of title to oil land in Kern county, was offered by the estate of the late E. L. Doheny. The compromise, approved yesterday by Superior Judge Ernest Craig, awaits action by the United States attorney general at the federal district court here.

Before Doheny's Pan-American Oil Company went into receivership, the federal government had obtained judgment against it for $9,000,000 for oil taken from the Elk Hills land.

Of the $9,000,000, nearly $6,000,000 was paid. After the receivership, the government sued Doheny for the balance, and after he died his estate for $5,188,722 which included interest.

Hospital Conference Gets Surprise Visit

Dr. J. H. J. Upham, right, president-elect of the American Medical Association, paid a surprise visit to the Southeastern Hospital conference here yesterday. He is shown being greeted by W. D. Barker, president of the conference.

SOCIAL MEDICINE HELD DANGEROUS

American Medical Body's President-Elect Hits Plan as Mechanical.

Socialized medicine in the United States would involve an automatic mechanism on the part of the doctor that would eventually destroy the health of the nation, Dr. J. H. J. Upham, president-elect of the American Medical Association, declared here yesterday.

"But," he added, "present group hospitalization proposals, as long as they do not include medical care, will help produce a more healthful people and will aid not only the patient and the hospital but the doctor as well. Heretofore, the doctor has often had to take a back seat and watch the hospital receive large sums for services while he must wait for a nominal fee."

Dr. Upham, dean of the Ohio State University School of Medicine at Columbus, was in Atlanta yesterday to visit friends and attend a session of the Southeastern hospital conference, which is holding its three-day organization meeting at the Biltmore hotel. He is returning to Columbus from a meeting of the Florida State Medical Association.

Mechanical Relationship.

"If we ever have socialized medicine," he reasoned, "all relations between patient and doctor will become mechanical, too mechanical. It will be much like the relations now found in the emergency wards of a great city hospital."

The future of medicine largely depends upon the enactment of legislation requiring all specialists to have a four-year basic training before they undertake specialized courses, the president-elect declared. He urged four-year basic training for all would-be doctors and then an additional two years for would-be specialists. Four-year internships will be found in the future, he predicted.

"This should not prove a financial burden on the student for he will be ready, under this plan, to begin competent practice as soon as his internship is completed."

The public has demanded specialists in recent years and consequently the general practitioner has taken the background, but the future will find a return to the general practitioner, Dr. Upham predicted.

Family Doctors.

"I know of one family in my home town that has four doctors, all specialists, waiting on them," he related. "Now that incurs too great an expense on the average man. Yes, as soon as the public realizes the values that can be received from a general practitioner, I look for them to assume their right place in the medical world. Of course, we will still need specialists, but they will be consulted after recommendations from the family doctor."

About 75 to 80 per cent of all human sickness can be treated adequately and well by the family doctor, Dr. Upham said.

"The reason is because they are better trained today than they were 30 years ago. Medical care must be of high standard or the people will not be satisfied. Dissatisfaction leads to their consulting quacks."

Speaking of the country doctor, he continued, "There has been talk about a scarcity of doctors in rural areas, but did you ever stop to think of how this doctor must feel after he has cared for his rural patients throughout the hard and cold winter months and then see them go to the city specialist when the roads are opened in the spring and summer?"

The greatest advances in medicine have been made with insulin and the treatment of syphilis, Dr. Upham declared.

"Through wide publicity and general conversation which will present intelligently the true facts about syphilis, the great social menace can be combated," he emphasized. "There should be no hesitancy speaking of it."

"Gone With the Wind."

Commenting on his visit to Atlanta he declared it was a pleasure to view the city after reading "Gone With the Wind," a book which he termed as "most interesting and most enjoyable."

"I was particularly interested in the treatment of the blight on American history—reconstruction. As a Republican I am ashamed of our record here."

Also attending the sessions of the conference yesterday was James A. Hamilton of Cleveland, Ohio, recognized authority on small hospitals, who declared the south had far too few hospital beds.

He advocated small hospitals in centers justifying them to care for general hospitalization and large, fully equipped hospitals accessible to care for specialized work.

Speaking favorably about group hospitalization, Hamilton said this insurance plan should aid the small hospital for people wish to be near their friends when they are sick, rather than in a large hospital where there is no one to come to see them.

"More and more people are using hospitals today," he continued. "The number of hospitals in the nation have more than doubled in the past 20 years and the number of hospital beds is increasing at the rate of 25,000 per year."

"In the past people went to the hospital to die, but today they go there to continue life."

Group Hospitalization.

John R. Minnix, group hospitalization expert of the Cleveland hospital, declared that under the group hospitalization plans people were assured of hospital care at prices they could afford to pay and consequently came to the institution for treatment before the disease or ailment got chronic.

Bryce L. Twitty, of Dallas, Texas, Baylor University hospital, said they had 24,000 on their group hospitalization rolls with several thousand others in Dallas wishing to join. Baylor hospital was the first to adopt the present group hospitalization plan. This was done in December, 1929.

"Under our plan, people making from $14 to $20 per week, who

TWO ARE ARRESTED IN CONVICT FRAUD

Tennessee Pair Post Bond Charges Growing Out of Prison Labor.

NASHVILLE, April 9. — (AP) The first criminal charges resulting from Lewis S. Pope's investigation of state affairs were filed today with the swearing out of warrants against E. L. Pardo.

former commissioner of institutions, and R. L. Stockard, Nashville business man.

They were accused of conspiracy to defraud the state. General Sessions Judge Draper fixed bond at $5,000 each. Both posted bond.

The charges were the outgrowth of a conference between State Attorney General Beeler, District

The investigator was told yesterday by R. S. Strickland, who operates a hosiery mill at the penitentiary using convict labor, that Pardue would not approve his present contract for use of prisoners' service until he agreed Stockard was to receive 5 cents and the state 12 cents for each dozen pairs of stockings produced, Strickland said. He added he paid Stockard more than $15,000 under the agreement, the last payment in December, 1936.

Pardue has denied knowledge of any such understanding. He said Strickland's contract with the state was "in due form" and before former Governor McAlister's approval. The contract was made while Pardue was superintendent of prison industries.

Strickland gave his testimony under a grant of immunity from criminal prosecution but Pardue said he would file civil suit against Stockard, Pardue said Strickland for collection of money. He already has instructed the prison to bill Strickland the rate of 17 cents a dozen pairs on all hose produced henceforth.

The arrest of G. W. Pattillo,

W. G. Maddox, 24, of Atlanta, who escaped from the DeKalb county chain gang shortly after being sentenced in connection with the holdup of a bakery here, was announced last night by police as High Point, N.C., inmate.

Chief W. G. Friddle, of High Point police, said Maddox, Patrick and a man listed as Lonnie Macemore, 23, of High Point, were taken into custody when police were informed several days ago an attempt would be made to hold a pay roll messenger of a cotton mill.

Police concealed themselves near the bank entrance and arrested the three men as the essence of the bank robbery was being left the bank unmonitored.

Macemore was held for investigation, while Maddox and Patrick were released.

Detective Lieutenant J. A. M. Kibben said last night efforts will be made to extradite Maddox to Pattillo. He said the escaped co-

THE IDLE FARMS

Governor Cone, of Florida, in suggesting to the legislature of that state that idle farm lands be thrown open to homesteading, draws attention to a condition which is just as true to Georgia as it is in other states in the south.

Several years ago there were 60,000 abandoned farms in Georgia, lying idle, unproductive, and from which the state was receiving no taxes.

Exact figures on these abandoned Georgia acres are not available today, but there must be at least 50,000 farms still idle in the state. Relief agencies report fully 80 per cent of the unemployed in the large cities are men and women who have either come from the rural areas themselves or who have rural background in their immediate ancestry.

The census of the United States for 1910 showed there were 10,000,000 more people living in agricultural regions than in the towns and cities. By 1920 the pendulum had swung until the two groups of population were approximately equal. By 1930 the swing had continued to the point where the urban population exceeded the rural by 10,000,000.

Such a condition cannot exist in a well-ordered country. A nation with an overpopulation of city dwellers cannot feed nor support itself. It is an axiom that the city cannot prosper unless its farming hinterlands are prosperous.

The United States must get back to a population division more like that of 1910.

Homesteading of the farm lands now lying idle offers the best and surest way for this recovery of the modern economic balance. Every encouragement should be given to the re-peopling of those idle farms.

No better homesteaders can be found than the farm-raised unemployed of the cities. Most of them are men and women of the finest American stock, needing only the opportunity to re-establish the kind of farm homes that made the nation great, to reclothe the idle acres in the green and white of growing crops.

Tens of thousands of potentially happy homes are deserted on the idle farms. Tens of thousands of families who could rebuild those deserted farms to high productivity are idle and hungry and homeless in the cities.

The problem is plain. Its solution should not be too difficult.

THE NEW POLICE SCHOOL

The announcement that Atlanta policemen are to go to school will be received with approval by the entire city. Chief M. A. Hornsby, instigator of the plan to establish a permanent school and lecture room for members of the force, is to be commended upon this, the latest step in the campaign to increase the efficiency of the local law enforcement organization.

Since Chief Hornsby was placed in full charge of the department there has been a notable improvement in the police service Atlanta has enjoyed. The chief will be the first to admit, however, that there is still wide room for improvement.

Many of the individual officers on city beats are excellent men. That they can use the opportunity for further training they themselves will gladly acknowledge. If they did not, they would not be the material for fine police personnel they are.

Others will undoubtedly have to be weeded out before the force as a whole acquires that efficiency and smartness a city such as Atlanta has a right to expect of her police. There are numbers of officers whose personal appearance reflects discredit upon the city, and, while personal smartness is not the sole attribute of a good policeman, it is an excellent indication of the ability and capacity of the individual officer.

Opening of a permanent police school will add to the efficiency of those officers who are already credits to the force and it will result in making still more plain the unfitness of those who should be permitted to retain their uniforms no longer than can be avoided.

Policemen, like all good men in all walks of life, never reach that point when further training, study and experience is unnecessary.

Chief Hornsby has shown his fitness for his position ever since he was made chief. He displays further fitness by the establishment of the new police school. The result of his efforts should be that, given the necessary time, he will give Atlanta a police force which will arouse the same admiration, both from citizens and visitors, that Atlantans now feel when they observe the officers in many other cities they visit.

Dora thinks any big industrialist who is up against a sit-down has to have his writs about him.

D'Annunzio is working out the formula for a chemical bath in which to dissolve himself when the time comes. Has he tried dipping a thumb in some of our cheaper blends?

At long last, the style pendulum may be swinging the other way. A beach scout says less girl will be worn with the 1937 bathing ensemble.

A DANIEL IN JUDGMENT

City Judge Boyd, of Memphis, may have started a new era in enforcement of traffic laws, a new era which, very easily, could reduce the mortality and injury toll of our streets and highways more effectively than any other single factor.

Judge Boyd recently fined a pedestrian, who had been injured when struck by an automobile, for violating the city ordinance against jay-walking. He exonerated the motorist in the case from blame. The worthy judge also announced that from now on it is his intention to punish the individual at fault in all such cases, whether he be riding on upholstery or traveling on shoe leather.

Approximately 60 per cent of traffic deaths are caused when automobiles strike pedestrians. And statistics reveal, in the majority of these cases, it is the pedestrian who is at fault.

The walker who steps out in front of a moving car imperils the lives of the people in that car just as the autolst who breaks the driving laws imperils the lives of pedestrians.

Anyone, whether in or out of a car, who does not observe the simple laws of the streets and highways, should be held strictly responsible and should be punished.

Better driving will do a lot to reduce the nation's traffic toll, but better walking will also go far toward solving the problem of how to reduce the staggering toll in life, limb and property from this cause.

HOSPITALIZATION CHARGES

Speakers before the conference here of the Southeastern Hospital Association emphasized that most of the hospitals in other cities charge patients a flat, inclusive rate per day, this rate to cover all services. Only the south, it was stated, retains the practice of special fees for all the different services performed.

Superintendent Fred Walker, of the Duval county hospital at Jacksonville, asserted that it is his observation patients resent the special fees in their bills and said the average patron of a hospital was much better satisfied if the one basic charge covered everything.

The question is one for discussion. Hospital expenses, as a rule, are emergent costs felt to be outside anticipated family budgets. It is this factor, undoubtedly, which makes the average man or woman accept a hospital bill as something unavoidable, but nevertheless expensive.

It would seem, at first glance, that a flat rate per day would be the more satisfactory system, although there is always the case of the patient who wants a full explanation for every dollar he pays out.

Whatever the result of the debate, most persons continue to use a hospital only when necessary, and pay for that use with a feeling that it is an unusual expense, neither too high nor too low, but one it is hoped can be avoided in the future.

THE STORK AT THE BAR

Now comes a news dispatch from supposedly effete New York telling the story of irate mothers, angry at school authorities who, they charge, have been teaching their little children babies are not delivered by storks.

Wasn't New York one of those centers of education which laughed, with a hint of a sneer, at Tennessee when that state insisted the world was made, just as it is today, in a space of six working days and sought to forbid the teaching of evolution in her schools?

It is conceivable there are places in the world which could be expected to rise to the defense of the stork and his mythical prerogatives. Perhaps Holland, where storks are said to perch on every chimney, but where, strangely enough, the birthrate is very low.

But, that scientific, modern, sophisticated New York should cavil at the disillusionment of childish minds in matters obstetric is too startling for realization.

Next thing we know there'll be a campaign launched in Boston to exile from the sacred Back Bay purlieus anyone who voices heresy in regard to Santa Claus.

HERSHEY SOUNDS THE WARNING

(From the Asheville Citizen.)

Far more significant, as matters now stand, than the compromise sit-down resolution which the senate has now adopted, and far more important, we think, than the compromise agreement reached by the Chrysler corporation and the Lewis organization, is what happened yesterday at Hershey, Pennsylvania.

The disturbing thing to the country has been and continues to be the fact that Mr. Lewis is going steadily forward in extending his arbitrary rule by arbitrary and illegal methods, without regard to the rights of minority workers or of the interests of the general public, in defiance of the law, and with no real effort on the part of those in authority to put an end to this defiance. The outbreak at Hershey yesterday is profoundly significant because it indicated clearly what is probably in the offing if the issue which Mr. Lewis has raised is not squarely met.

What John L. Lewis is doing with his sit-down strikes is a challenge to the rights and interests of workers the nation over in exactly the same form and peril if not in all instances in the same degree that the seizure of the Hershey plant was a challenge to the milk producers on the Pennsylvania farms centered about the chocolate factory that provides them with a market. The conflict of interests at Hershey was so plain that all could see it instantly. And it will be noted that there was no toleration whatever on the part of the farmers for the holdup which the sit-down strikers were attempting to stage.

The lesson of the Hershey incident is obvious. The law must make itself respected or there are others beside Mr. Lewis and his followers who may be expected to take the law into their own hands. That could not be other than a lamentable thing if it spread. The savage outbreak of the farmers shows something else. It is a devastating answer to the sophists who have been seeking to build up some new and devious theory to justify the Lewis procedure. The essence of civilization lies in the reconciliation of conflicting interests. This reconciliation cannot be effected by the tyrannical processes that Mr. Lewis is practicing. Such processes are inherently lawless and despotic. They should have been ended in the beginning. They must be ended soon, and by authority, or Mr. Lewis will have succeeded in a course the inescapable consequences of which must be to jeopardize not recovery only but the future of democracy in this country as well.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON.

INFLUENCE WASHINGTON, April 9.—It was not President Roosevelt who blocked the congressional move to outlaw coal sit-downs. Nor was it entirely Floor Leader Robinson, although he has received the credit. The job was done by a man on the telephone with the voice of a Hamlet in rage. No senator needed to be introduced. There is only one voice like that in the United States.

Mr. John L. Lewis has influence. He has not only introduced to America the technique of winning minority strikes against the law and court orders, by force, but he has become a major economic influence. He has raised the price of basic commodities as much as the armament boom in Europe. He has shortened hours, increased wages, and consequently prices, in steel, coal and probably eventually in autos. He has done it at a time when the government professes to be frightened by price inflation and is working to prevent another boom and collapse.

To anyone who can do these things, senators are not so tough.

ARGUMENT Mr. Lewis got busy on the phone when he heard about the Byrnes amendment to his Guffey-Vinson coal bill, proposing to legalize sit-downs in the mines. Those around the Democratic telephone booths that day say he must have talked to 30 senators. Some say he changed only half a dozen votes or so, but he strengthened many.

His argument was this: There cannot be a sit-down in coal. The men could not live in underground darkness without food or comforts. Guards at the mouth of the mine could easily isolate the strikers. Consequently, he never intended to have a sit-down in coal.

The proposal, therefore, was just a gratuitous insult to the auto workers who had won their strike and effected a settlement.

There was just enough truth in what he said about coal sit-downs to convince some wavering senators who might otherwise have been unswayed by his voice.

WORDS

Other unseen compliments to the talents of Mr. Lewis have developed here lately.

The story may be challenged, but there is no good reason to doubt that the President and vice president have exchanged some warm unreported words on the subject of Mr. Lewis. "This said, unquestionably, that Mr. Garner challenged the truth of reports being received by the President concerning sit-downs. The vice president implied Mr. Roosevelt was being misled as to the seriousness of the situation and the probable consequences of letting sit-downs encourage the flouting of laws which are enforced against citizens outside the CIO.

The conversation got down to the desk-pounding stage when Mr. Garner said something like this: "You have got to get those men out of those factories."

The nature, if not the exact wording, of the President's reply was: "I cannot do it without bloodshed."

"Well," said Mr. Garner in substance, "... John Lewis did. I guess that makes him bigger than the President of the United States."

FEAR

Despite his successes, Lewis is inwardly scared. Those who know him best vouch for that. Several things have come up which he did not reckon with in the beginning.

The main thing is the little union affiliated with him are getting away from his control. Ambitious local leaders do not realize they can destroy the whole CIO movement by carrying on sit-downs. They want to get theirs. Consequently, the immediate outlook indicates a further expansion of little sit-downs, but no more big ones. Lewis can and probably will prevent the big ones, because he knows one more big one may ruin him.

Things like the senate resolution and the Hershey incident have shown popular disfavor. They also show that the growing popular impatience may force the government to act more strongly next time.

To get away with lawless strikes, Mr. Lewis must have the sympathy of those in high authority. He had it in the beginning, but he will not have it in the next one. That much seems to be certain.

FORD

The current flag-waving about a big Ford strike may not be justified. The inside on that situation bears a distinct topographical difference from General Motors and Chrysler.

It seems that all of Mr. Ford's important plants, except one, sit back from the highways and public property. They are surrounded by high barbed fences and a considerable distance from the street. The feeding of sit-downers in his plants, therefore, would be a difficult proposition.

If some of Ford's men sit down, his ample guard force will just surround the building and prevent outside trespassers from coming on his property. If trespassers attack the guards in trying to get food to the strikers, they will have civil warfare or something so closely related to it that Mr. Lewis might find himself sitting down involuntarily and permanently, perhaps in a room with steel wall-paper.

SILHOUETTES

By RALPH T. JONES.

Come, get a diploma,
On parchment inscribed,
To show how you've deeply
Of knowledge imbibed.

Come, pack up your books
And hurry school
To prove to the world
You're not a durned fool.

An Open Letter

To a Hit-Run Driver.

I don't claim the following. It was issued by an insurance company in its regular campaign for greater safety on the streets. I thought it worthy of reproduction here, however, and hope it will help to spread the gospel of carefulness among automobile drivers generally. Headed "An Open Letter to a Hit-Run Driver," it follows:

"Well, you got away with it. So far, anyway. Of course, you're still a bit nervous. You are startled by doorbells; your palm sweats when you pick up the morning paper; your motor gets dry when a stranger seems to stare at you. For there is just a possibility that some chance passer-by saw you. But your pulse is beginning to behave again. Each passing day brings added safety.

"If it will make you feel any better, you may never be caught. But, my craven fellow, you'll never escape yourself! You'll never escape the shame of having killed a child and run away. You'll never escape the 'aching, burning memory that, faced with the test, you preferred cowardice to courage.

"You will live the rest of your days blinding yourself into believing that you didn't have time to think (although life's crises are not scheduled for men's convenience); that anybody else would have done the same thing (although you don't dare tell anybody else); and that it wasn't murder, but just an accident (as though people hid themselves after accidents).

The Days—

And the Nights.

"The days will be trying, but not so bad, compared with the nights, when you lie awake with your conscience and when, having fallen asleep at last, dreams steal into your tired brain to re-enact that scene of secret shame. Yes, the nights will be hard.

"A thousand times you will wish to release that pent-up shame, to scream: 'I killed a child and before the police commissioners last night. The charges were dismissed as having no basis of foundation and the board was unanimous in sustaining the action of the men.'

And Fifty Years Ago

From The Constitution of Sunday, April 10, 1887:

"Mrs. M. T. Fitch, M. D., a graduate of several northern allopathic institutions, and a late graduate of the Southern Eclectic College, of Atlanta, has located in this city, at 50 Capitol avenue, and will practice medicine here. Her specialties are gynecology and obstetrics. There is a large field in Atlanta for a lady practitioner, and Mrs. Fitch has excellent prospects of success."

Sit-Down Strike

So you think sit-down strikes are something new? When the women in Aristophanes' "Lysistrata" decided to force the return of their husbands from prolonged wars, Lysistrata called to her sisters to sit-down and abstain from all wifely duties. They won.

And Arthur Lewis, in a book published in 1911, suggested sit-down strikes as a means of "direct action."

Fair Enough

By WESTBROOK PEGLER.

Profound Thinkers

WASHINGTON, April 9.—Sometimes I envy the profundity of those serious thinkers who read the ideology magazines and know all about the supreme court, the constitution, the Ukraine, stakhanovism and soil erosion in Tennessee. They do get around, these people, if only in the compass of a 15-cent weekly having neither illustrations nor humor, as such. Yet, on those rare occasions when I find time to their solemn company to the extent of buying a copy at the hotel newsstand to while away an evening puzzling out the editorials, I have a feeling that in one respect, at least, I am a very superior man.

It seems that these serious thinkers are great dummies on the subject of sex and I frankly marvel at the advertisements for sex books—calculated homely fundamentals to teach them that which most adults regard as matters of common knowledge. Somehow, ordinary people, living on a lower plane, just pick up this information as they go along and come to maturity with a fair practical understanding of what it is all about. Some get it in revelations from their mothers and fathers, others pick it up from older kids who learned it God knows where, and those who lived on farms in their youth can hardly remember a time when they didn't know the score.

Home-Spun

We—all, baby—haven't "later-hoe-in," home-spun in the great American majority—well, stranger, we don't regard sex as any fittin' topic for a book and it's our view that any grown-up man or woman who has got to read a book about it ain't going to be any wiser afterward than when they were before. They just ain't the type, and it seems a shame for any book publisher to take their money at the rate of $7.50 a copy for the de luxe edition, or $2 for the cloth.

Just on the record, this kind of book seems superfluous except for people to whom it would be useless. The human race has achieved a very ripe age and steady improvement thus far and no man of any pride will ever admit that he had to turn to Chapter IX to brush up on courtship. He would try her with mandolin music, poetry, gin or a good bust on the snoot, according to his own judgment of her susceptibilities, and if he didn't click—well, giddap. But he would have done no better if, having her in a hammock of a summer night, he switched on the light, the bloody fool, to see what the book said about it. That is a time for ad libbing, and if a man has the knack she's his'n.

Doctors' Novels

The learned doctors who wrote those books might be surprised and more than a little disappointed in the human race if they could read a verbatim report of some of the gibberish which has been used to close successful deals of this kind. And I would lay something like 8 to 5 that our serious thinkers, when they come to a clinch, forget their lessons and gurgle and goo like any soda clerk, failing which they might better save their breath.

Another Letter From a Bald Headed Dad to His Red-Headed Daughter

By ROBERT QUILLEN.

My Dear Louise:

So you wonder what all the shooting is for? You ask why our courts, after generations of obscure and quiet dignity, have suddenly become so important and exciting.

Well, my dear, you are watching a bit of history as romantic as thrilling as the Declaration of Independence—and, as usual, only a few seem to realize what is happening.

The courts are suddenly important because they alone now provide a vital change in our form of government. Keep your eyes open, for your present privilege will seem in years to come like standing on a New England porch and watching Paul Revere ride by.

As you learned in school, we used to have a representative government. Each district elected congressmen, who met in Washington and made new laws after long debate, wrangling and trading.

The President's business was to sign the laws. He could make suggestions, but congressmen were jealous of their dignity and power and resented "executive interference."

Then the panic of 1929 changed things. Millions of people were broke, jobless and hungry. All were scared. And the congressmen didn't know what to do. They were anxious to keep their jobs and afraid to offend the voters. There wasn't an idea in a carload.

The country had hit bottom when Mr. Roosevelt became President. He was the kind of leader the desperate people desired. He had courage and his advisers had hold ideas. He began sending "emergency measures" to congress, and the bewildered congressmen, glad to have somebody take the responsibility, passed the President's bills without reading them.

Congress no longer counted. The government was the will of Roosevelt. And when the country was safe again, he asked the people for a second term. Their response was a 26,000,000-vote of confidence in a "mandate" which meant: "You have ruled for four years without congress and we like it. Give us four years more of it."

Since congress does the President's will, the 16,000,000 who opposed him have virtually no representation—no way to express their opposition. So the ones who feel pinched have turned to the courts, and the courts, in many instances, have blocked the President's plans.

That's what the shooting is for. With the courts alone in his way, he is trying to brush them aside—or, in his own words, to appoint judges who "will not override the will of congress"—which means he will.

Whatever happens, it won't mean the end of the world, for all things political are temporary. If the President wins, it will mean only that he will be the absolute boss until 1940—so let's pray that all of his plans are wise and just and good.

This Morning World's Window

By JOHN TEMPLE GRAVES II.

"Dost thou think, because thou art virtuous, there shall be no more cakes and ale?"

What did Margaret Mitchell have in mind when she wrote "Gone With the Wind"? And Stark Young when he wrote "So Red the Rose"? Were they for the south or against it? Were they trying to prove the perfidy of Yankees or the need of return to an old way, or a certain weakness in southern character, or the folly of romanticism, or what? Many of us want to know. Many of us are sure that there was a point to these famous best-sellers, that the authors were putting up some sort of argument, that the characters were meant to be typical of something, that the stories either defend or attack the south.

To only a few of us it seems to occur that there really isn't any point to "Gone With the Wind" nor any moral to "So Red the Rose." Most of us are so accustomed, both as readers and as writers, to southern literature with a point, to southern characters that carry moral on their backs or between their lines, that we find it hard to believe in the thing called "art for art's sake" in so far as the south is concerned. The probable truth is that neither Stark Young nor Margaret Mitchell meant to indulge in "art for a purpose." They simply painted characters of something that interested and appealed to them tremendously. There was no point, no moral. But that does not stop most of us from looking for one, expecting one, presuming one.

Everybody should want to know whether we southerners are heaven-bound or hell-bent, it is said, to have our conversation with Communists on the subject of religion. They were quite sure that religion was doomed to disappear ultimately. "There was one case though," he related "which received much attention in the Soviet newspapers while we were in Russia, about a girl stalinovite (shockworker on a state farm in Siberia). It seems that she was a devout, pious girl, a Soviet wondered if it was right that a worker who was held up as a good example to others should be a churchgoer. They referred the matter to Moscow, and the answer came back promptly that religion was a purely personal matter and that this girl was entirely free to go to church if she wished.

DISSEMINATION FROM STATE SCHOOLS HEAD

Editor Constitution: Please allow me to express to you my appreciation of the decidedly unparalleled improvement which has been made in The Atlanta Constitution because of the change in its policy. The Constitution has always been easily readable, but it now can be read without any strain whatsoever upon the eyes. I wish to congratulate you upon a many multiplied progressive endeavor in which you are engaged, and for the significant contribution which you are making to Georgia and Georgia's people.

AXES CURTAIN INDUSTRIAL GROWTH

Editor Constitution: Sit-down strikes and the obvious unwillingness of some state governments to protect private property may bring a close to an era of eager investment in industrial America. During 150 years labor-employing industry in the United States has been a capital for development and expansion in an ever increasing volume. NRA interfered with the free flow of investment money into industry. The capital gains tax placed a handicap on the making of new investments. The severe tax on undistributed profits rendered new enterprise less than normally attractive to investors. Now comes the sit-down strike and defiance of the courts which attempt to protect private property. These several developments touch the economic integrity of the whole country in a most vital spot.

The cotton south, which is rapidly losing its export markets, and which desires to attract labor employing industry as an offset, may well view these developments with deep concern. The south has raw materials, low cost sites, and relatively low cost living conditions. But to carry out its purpose of drawing new industries, requires investment capital. Thus far its labor has shown no signs of going to the extremes, and may never do so. But investment money is timid and hides when danger signals are displayed anywhere.

NRA is dead. There is nationwide objection to the capital gains tax and the tax on undistributed profits. There is ample federal and state law to put an end to sit-down strikes and to mob rule. The states are sovereign. Were the southern states, seriously and in earnest, to join in demanding repeal of these tax laws by the present congress, and in assuring protection of the intention to protect private property from sit-downers and from mob rule, industrial development in the new bedeviled cotton states would soon become a reality on a large and increasing scale.

The state of Mississippi has set up special machinery to attract labor-employing industries, and has provided for a nation-wide advertising campaign to that end. WALTER PARKER, New Orleans, April 6, 1937.

CHILD HEALTH DAY SET BY ROOSEVELT

President Proclaims May 1 as Significant Day To Consider Child's Welfare.

WASHINGTON, April 9.—(AP)—President Roosevelt today proclaimed May 1 as Child Health Day and urged the people to plan for "health protection for every child" during the coming year.

The proclamation said safeguarding the health of children is "protecting the vitality of the nation." It added that the federal government had been cooperating with state and local governments in the past year in extending and improving child health services.

The President emphasized that 1937 was the 25th anniversary of the founding of the Children's Bureau of the Labor Department. He asked the people not only to plan for health protection, but to "consider and appraise child health conditions and the community organization" for improving child health.

Promote National Health.

The proclamation called upon the children to "celebrate the gains they had made in health during the year and to lend their aid to the community in its year-round effort to promote the health of the nation."

The text of the President's proclamation: Whereas the congress by joint resolution of May 18, 1928 (45 Stat. 617), has authorized and requested the President of the United States to issue annually a proclamation setting apart May 1 as Child Health Day; and

Whereas safeguarding the health of children is protecting the vitality of the nation; and Whereas during the past year the federal government has been cooperating with the state and local governments in extending and improving child health services:

Objects of Day.

Now, therefore, I, Franklin D. Roosevelt, President of the United States of America, on the twenty-fifth anniversary of the founding of the Children's Bureau of the United States Department of Labor, do hereby designate the first day of May of this year as Child Health Day, and do call upon the people of the United States on that day to consider and appraise child health conditions and the community organization for child health, and to plan for health protection for every child during the coming year; and I call upon the children to celebrate the gains they have made in health during the year and to lend their aid to the community in its year-round effort to promote the health of the nation.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States of America to be affixed. Done at the city of Washington this ninth day of April in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and thirty-seven, and of the independence of the United States of America the one hundred and sixty-first.

PARLEY ON FISH TAX PLANNED BY STATES

Georgia and Florida Legislators Seek Peaceful Solution of Issue.

A diplomatic council at Valdosta on April 17 to settle the Georgia-Florida fish-and-peach controversy appeared likely last night.

Governor Rivers telegraphed Representative R. Don McLeod at Tallahassee he would be able to attend such a meeting after McLeod had suggested either Albany or Thomasville for the same date. McLeod told the Florida house a new Georgia inspection law levying a license of $200 on wholesalers handling out-of-state fish was a discrimination against the Florida fish industry.

He threatened to seek a tax against Georgia-grown peaches and vegetables as a reprisal unless the question can be settled "diplomatically."

If the Valdosta meeting is held, Governor Fred P. Cone is slated to attend with committee members from the Florida house and senate, while Governor Rivers plans to take the three authors of the fish inspection law with him.

Representative L. H. House, member of the Georgia house from Lowndes county and secretary of the committee which steered the bill through the legislature, issued a statement here yesterday in which he held Florida's claims of discrimination were due to "a misunderstanding of the law."

The measure, he contended, was purely one for health control, and to force shippers to ice fish properly.

"Ninety per cent of the ptomaine poison cases in Georgia come from people eating fish improperly iced in shipment," he said.

While the law exempts from the license dealers handling fresh water fish or seafood taken from Georgia waters, House said this feature in itself did not constitute a discrimination against Florida.

"We have a law prohibiting the catching of fresh water fish for sale," he said, "besides, Georgia fisheries furnish not over 1 per cent of the fish consumed in Georgia."

Governor Rivers displayed telegrams from fish dealers in Alabama, Florida and Virginia urging enforcement of the law as a benefit to the industry.

FORESTRY BUREAU IS AIDED BY U. S.

Federal Funds Topped State's Construction Last Year, Wisdom Reports.

The state forestry and geology department received more money from the federal government last year than from the state, a report of Auditor Tom Wisdom disclosed yesterday.

The two divisions received a total of $48,750 from the state treasury, and $67,386.16 from the federal government during 1936, the audit showed.

The next largest source of income was $6,301 for the sale of nursery seedlings, an increase of $4,542.81 from the same source in 1935.

Operating cost of the department was divided as follows between the various divisions: Forestry, $40,644.17; geology, $13,637.77; nursery, $6,727.18, and parks, $6,199.58.

The total operating cost of $112,990.79 was an increase of $5,911.66 over the previous year.

CONNECTED SERMONS PLANNED BY HOLCOMB

OUTSIDER IS ARRESTED IN JAIL BREAK OF 17

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., April 9.—(AP)—Officers today arrested a negro they accused of helping 17 negro prisoners escape from the county jail yesterday.

Freedom for eight of those who fled from a temporary dormitory was short-lived. A widespread hunt for the others was continued.

One of those recaptured identified, police said, William Stuart as the negro who tied a hacksaw to a string dangled out of the window by Preston McDonald, convicted killer still at large.

SUTTON TO ASSIST PATROL LAUNCHING

Author of Bill To Aid in Establishing State Board Police Force.

Representative Clement E. Sutton, of Wilkes county, author of a measure to establish a state highway patrol, will assist in setting up the new department by July 1, Governor Rivers announced yesterday.

The department, to be composed of between 80 and 120 men, can begin operating before July 1.

The same act creating it also provides for a drivers' license, to be administered by the patrol.

"Judge Sutton devoted a lot of study to the question," Rivers said, "and I think he should have a hand in setting up the new department."

He said he would ask Sutton to confer with J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, with army officials who have assisted other states in starting patrols, and with the officials of other state police systems.

CITY RELIEF ACTION EXPECTED MONDAY

Budget Commission Meeting Waits Return to City of Mayor Hartsfield.

City action to provide relief for 10,000 unemployables probably will be taken Monday, it was indicated yesterday.

Mayor Hartsfield was out of the city, but will return to his office this morning. In his absence Alderman I. Glover Hailey acted as mayor, and said he would await the return of the mayor before any attempt to convene the city budget commission is made.

Hartsfield will call the commission together this morning or Monday and will ask that city receipts be raised to provide city funds to match Fulton county in the joint relief program.

Fulton county commissioners have served notice they will suspend relief payments until the city provides its share.

LAWMAKER URGES FLOOD FUND BOOST

House Chairman Whittington Declares F.D.R. Figure Far Too Small.

WASHINGTON, April 9.—(AP)—Chairman Whittington, Democrat, Mississippi, of the house flood control committee, said today he believed President Roosevelt's proposed appropriations for flood control should be materially increased.

Whittington told the United States Flood Control Federation a suggested appropriation of $30,000,000 for projects authorized in the 1936 omnibus flood control bill should be boosted to between $50,000,000 and $60,000,000.

He added the President's recommendation for $22,000,000 for Mississippi valley projects authorized in the Overton bill of 1936 should be increased to at least $35,000,000.

The federation considered at length today a report that a house subcommittee on military affairs was planning to handle flood control and rivers and harbors appropriations in a separate bill, rather than include them in the War Department appropriation bill.

Many Striking Names Suggested For Royal Jungle Four at Zoo

Lion-Namers Send in Plenty of Unusual Nomenclature for Queen Martha's Magnificent Family; Contest Closes Tuesday.

By THE LION EDITOR.

Lists of striking names for baby lions are flooding the mail of the Lion Editor, since the Lion Namers' Contest has been opened to school children in Decatur and DeKalb county, as well as those of Atlanta and Fulton county.

To those who wish to join in the game, let the Lion Editor volunteer a little bit of advice. That is, if you haven't already sent in names and are busy trying to think up some, resort to your school books and the subjects you are studying in school to suggest clever names for the four baby cubs out at Grant Park zoo.

Queen Martha, the lioness mother, would not like to have her two sons and two daughters named just like a circus lion. She would want them to have unusual names, befitting princes and princesses.

One contestant sent in four names he selected from his study of history, and the Lion Editor thinks they are good names.

However, the final selection of the winners of the Lion Namers' contest will be made by Councilman Cecil W. Hester, Parks Manager George I. Simons and Joe Gregg, secretary to Mayor Hartsfield, who are the board of judges. First prize for the best list of four names is $10, second is $5, and third is $2.50, all in cash. Remember the contest closes at noon Tuesday and lists which reach the Lion Editor after the noon hour Tuesday will not be considered.

Uncle Matt Leonard, who has been keeper of the zoo longer than you can remember, says the public will be allowed to see Martha's cubs in about one month. It will be a gala day at the zoo when The Constitution announces that Martha and her family will be at home to visitors. Thousands will flock to see the four cubs and by that time every one will know what they are named.

Win for yourself the honor of having named the finest cubs ever born at the Atlanta zoo. Pick out two boys' names and two girls' names and write a short essay on why you selected these particular names. Rush the list to the Lion Editor at The Constitution right away. You may win a valuable prize!

INSTALLMENT XXVII.

She had meant to be so good—she had told Bruce in that little note that she would never lose her temper again, and already she had behaved abominably.

The house seemed very deserted; then came a step on the stairs which she knew; it paused in the doorway, but she did not look around.

"Come out, Vilette," Bruce said very gently.

She stood up, still not turning. "You don't want me," she said.

He came into the room, standing beside her. "Thank you for your letter," he said.

She bit her lip to control a sob that rose in her throat.

"Come out," he said again, "I want to talk to you."

She shook her head. "I don't want to come if you're asking me only because you think you ought to," and then impulsively, "don't go—I'm sorry, too. I don't know what's the matter with me. I try so hard to keep my temper and it's no good. I'm all on edge, Bruce. Her voice was shaking. "I don't want you to go away—I shall be miserable without you. I suppose you're tired of me, that's what it is," and now she turned, catching at his arm with a theatrical gesture.

"Oh, please don't be tired of me," she whispered.

He drew her hand down, but kept it in his. "Come out," he said again. "I want to talk to you."

They went out into the darkness and down to the sea, walking a little distance in silence before Bruce spoke.

"Vilette—if you'd like our engagement to end—"

The words were kind, even gentle, but she immediately read into them the interpretation she dreaded.

"You are tired of me. I knew you were! I'm never wrong about people I—like. What have I done! ... tell me what I've done!"

Vilette might have been a good actress had she been able to speak and behave as naturally on the stage as she was behaving at this moment.

"You haven't done anything," Bruce answered rather wearily. "But we're always quarreling—we're never friends for more than an hour or two."

"I don't want to be friends with you," she said stormily. And, longed to hear him say the word "lovers," but that was beyond him, and she went on hopelessly. "I think it's much more a question as to whether you would like our engagement to end—perhaps the wish is father to the thought—perhaps..." She bit her lip hard.

Bruce stood still, his hands on her shoulders. "Vilette, will you listen to me, and try to believe that I want to do only what is best for you and for your happiness."

She nodded silently, though with fatal clarity she knew that had he loved her as she wished to be loved, he would have taken her in his arms instead of trying to argue things out with such kindly patience.

"There can never be any lasting peace for us if you cannot—" he faltered, "if you cannot make up your mind to be happy and content. If you worry yourself so... needlessly now, when we have only been engaged such a short time—can't you see that it will be infinitely more difficult later on? If we marry, and you go back to Africa with me, we shall be away from all your people and then—"

She broke in feverishly. "I wish we were there now—I want to get away from them all—it's they who make me restless and miserable—oh, I want to get away."

But once again she was meaning Heather. Her mind was always groping hungrily around her sister—for something definite on which it could fasten—for some absolute proof that would once and for all put an end to her doubt one way or the other.

There was a little silence then Bruce said, "I want to go back at the beginning of October—I had hoped to be able to stay longer, but I can't. Will you come with me when I go?"

In a flash she was asking herself, "Haden't he all along meant to take me—is this the first time he has thought of it?" and then came the quick evasion, and she was clinging to him with a torrent of broken words:

"I wish we could go now—I shall never be happy till I know you belong to me... Oh, Bruce, I will try—but you don't understand—I know you don't understand, and I can't explain, and if I could, it would just seem silly to you—"

She moved her hands helplessly. "It's like something always dodging me—something that walks beside me all the time and won't go away—like a shadow." And she tried to laugh, hiding her face against him.

"But I do love you, I do," she said. "And when I'm horrid and hateful to you I only seem to love you more."

His arms closed around her, but he did not speak, and she went on presently, "Let's be married soon! ... everything will be all right if we are married soon. I hated it at supper time when they were laughing about our wedding—that's what made me angry because—"

"Because—what?"

She lifted her head, and in the pale light of the moon he could see the tragic intensity of her eyes.

"Sometimes I am sure we shall never be married—I think it's that that haunts me." She gave herself a little shake. "But I'm all right now—I'm going to turn over a new leaf and start afresh. You'll see darling! You'll see how good I can be."

"Poor little girl."

She turned her face against his arm. "Say you love me, Bruce," she whispered, and he answered steadily, "I do love you."

It was no more and no less than the truth, but he loved her, and the avowed made her happy, of what was it to remember that it was only the same as his love for Effie—for them all!

She stood on tiptoe to kiss him. "Will you put the ban on when you get to London?" she asked tremulously.

"Yes—if I may."

Vilette gave a great sigh of relief. "Write me when it's all settled. And we won't have any letter which may interest you," he said.

Another bill, Heather thought quickly, but this time she was mistaken.

"You may remember," Caesar said grandly, "that some weeks ago I answered an advertisement which inquired for the relatives of one, William Arden. I am well aware that at the time I was held up to ridicule. This, he held the letter aloft with an air of triumph, "is in reply to the information I forwarded."

UNCLE RAY'S CORNER

A LITTLE SATURDAY TALK.

A few of the older readers of our corner were worried about the "Weapons of War" we took up that to tell about cannon, machine guns and so on might lead young people to look on war with more favor.

What do you think about that question? If we learn about the deadly things used to make war, are we more or less likely to favor peace?

It is my belief that if people know the truth about war, they will be less likely to think of it as "a good thing." In fact I do not see how anyone who knows the facts could say anything in favor of the war system. Wars kill men in good health, men who might do good things for the world.

The World War left millions of men dead on the field of battle, and after it was all over, what good came of it? There was some change in the ownership of land, and the Germans were told they must pay the Allies billions of dollars. The Germans tried to pay, but they didn't succeed very well. All countries were left poor and, after the war, vast numbers of men, women and children starved to death in certain countries of Europe.

The warfare which started in Spain last year has dragged on and on and on. No one knows just how many persons have been killed, but some time ago a military leader in Spain placed the number at half a million. Very likely that figure was too high; but certainly Spain has suffered in a terrible way.

The fighting in Spain has made it more and more clear that war means dropping bombs on cities, bringing death to helpless women and children and aged men. If Europe should suffer a general

WHITE PARK COURSE PURCHASE IS URGED BY CITY COMMITTEE

2,000 To Be Paid; Cyclorama Picture Sale Bar Is Sought.

Purchase of the controversial A. White golf course through a plan agreed by the city and Fulton county will be recommended to the city council, it was decided today at a meeting of the city committee of council, headed by Councilman Cecil W. Hesunder the agreement the city will pay $25,000 and Fulton county will match that with another $25,000. Dr. O. E. Collum, owner of the 86 acres, which it is proposed to acquire, agreed to minor changes in the lease-purchase plan yesterday afternoon.

It is expected that the measure will be submitted to council at a special meeting Monday or at the next regular meeting of council, scheduled for April 19.

Cyclorama Pictures.

At the same meeting machinery was set in motion to copy the cyclorama of the Battle of Atlanta, thus restricting photographing of the historic picture or the sale of prints without specific permission of the parks department.

George I. Simons, general manager of parks, criticized the sale of pictures of the painting at the White park concession stand, contending that proceeds from such sales should accrue to the city.

An ordinance making it illegal to make any such pictures or to sell such pictures commercially will be presented to council by committee. Penalty for violation would be a fine not to exceed $100 or 30 days' imprisonment, either or both, in the discretion of the court.

Simons also unfolded a plan to publish an art gallery and museum at the Cyclorama, and the committee voted to sell Miss Emma Woodward's "Empire," a pictorial book of Georgia, at the cyclorama building and use the profits as a nucleus for the museum.

Under the lease-purchase agreement, the city will acquire actual title to certain tracts of the White golf course over a period of 10 years. At the conclusion of that period, the entire property will be turned in fee simple to the municipality. A total of $5,000 a year will be expended jointly by the city and county.

FLORIDA RAIL FIRM LOSES HUGE TRUST

Court Rules Company Is Not Beneficiary of $17,000,000 by Will.

NEW YORK, April 9.—(AP)—The Florida East Coast Railway Company was ruled out by the appellate division today as a beneficiary of a $17,000,000 trust created in the will of Mary Lily Flagler Bingham, who died in 1917.

Mrs. Bingham was the widow of Henry M. Flagler, one of the founders of the Standard Oil Company, and later was the wife of Robert W. Bingham of Louisville, now ambassador to England.

The appellate division was unanimous in ruling the railway was not a beneficiary of the will, and it reversed the appointment of a referee to decide to what extent the railway was a beneficiary.

Flagler died in 1913 made huge investments in Florida, building the railway and a string of hotels. When his widow died she left $19,000,000 to relatives and others and set up the $17,000,000 trust fund to help the railway.

It was to be the property of 21 trustees, after which it was to be divided among her brother and two sisters.

The railway now is in the hands of a receiver, Scott M. Lofn, who brought suit to declare a beneficiary.

C. COTTON GROWERS PROMISED SAME QUOTA

WASHINGTON, April 9.—(AP)—Senator Byrnes, of South Carolina, received assurance today that the 1937 farm program would be the same as last year.

Byrnes and other members of the state's congressional delegation recently protested any reduction of the quota after receipt of complaints from the state that a decrease was in prospect.

The senator received today a letter from Cully A. Cobb, southern farm administrator, saying that the 1937 allotment would total 2,109,060 acres and 10,284,000 pounds—the same as 1936.

NAZIS WILL DICKER FOR BELGIAN PACT

Schacht To Offer Gain in Antwerp Shipping for Concessions in Congo.

BERLIN, April 9.—(AP)—Germany will offer Belgium a much larger share of business for Antwerp harbor in return for badly needed raw materials from the Belgian Congo, well informed sources believed tonight.

Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, president of the Reichsbank, will seek some such arrangement when he confers with leading financial experts at Brussels next week, these sources believed.

The impending visit to Brussels was described officially as purely coincidental with acceptance by Premier Paul Van Zeeland of an assignment to investigate international trade questions. This was regarded in high German official circles, however, as of great importance.

Raw materials Germany could get from the Belgian Congo include copper, vegetable fats and oils, manganese and radium-containing ores, as well as chromium.

As close as Antwerp is to the Ruhr and Rhine valleys, it was apparent Germany could easily increase the volume of goods shipped via that harbor—especially since Great Britain reportedly has placed a huge order for armament equipment with German firms.

German shipping via Antwerp at present is confined chiefly to expensive goods such as machinery, while coal and cheap manufactured goods go via Rotterdam.

If assured of raw materials from the Congo, informed sources pointed out, Germany might easily route a much greater bulk of its trans-oceanic shipping via Antwerp, on same basis whereby the share of profits accruing might be shared to pay for the Congo imports.

ARELENE JUDGE WED BY TOPPING

Reno Jurist Performs Ceremony Few Hours After He Grants Her Divorce.

VIRGINIA CITY, Nev., April 9.—(UP)—Arlene Judge, motion picture actress, and Daniel Topping, New York, owner of the Brooklyn Dodgers professional football team, were married here late today.

The ceremony was performed by District Judge Moran, who a few hours earlier granted Miss Judge a divorce from Wesley Ruggles, Hollywood director.

After the divorce in Reno, Miss Judge told reporters she and Topping were to be married April 17 aboard the S. S. Lurline on the way to Honolulu.

A few hours later, however, she, the New York sportsman and some friends were observed on their way to Virginia City, 18 miles from Reno.

They went to the home of Jeb Kendall, president of the Consolidated Mines and Water Company. With J. S. (Shipwreck) Kelly, former football star, and Mrs. Mary Lang, as attendants, Miss Judge and Topping were married in the living room of the Kendall residence.

Cowboy in Snowshoes Crack Alaskan Hunter

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, April 9.—(AP)—A cowboy on snowshoes came, in from his trappings today, loaded down with furs, and told Alaskan snowshoos in his rich Texas drawl how to hunt with a Jarlat.

"Texas Red" Shaw bags moose in the Skwentina district like a Texas cowboy ropes a steer, substitution snowshoes for a pony.

"Snying a band in a river last week, I succeeded in driving a bull out into deep snow where it usually is no track at all to rope a moose at 15 feet," Shaw said.

"But this moose wouldn't break trail in the snow which was up to his neck. I just walked up to him on my snowshoes and pulled his chin whiskers. It was good sport."

6 STATES REQUEST NO CUT IN RELIEF

Governors and Representatives Confer at White House for Hour and Half.

WASHINGTON, April 9.—(AP)—Governors and other representatives of six states conferred for an hour and a half with President Roosevelt today on federal and state relief.

Governor Lehman, of New York, spokesman for the group, which protested to the President a month ago against any cuts in Works Progress Administration rolls, said today:

"We have no comment to make. The only person who can talk about the conference is the President."

Earlier in the day, the President told newspapermen he would not arrive at a figure on the relief cut for the fiscal year beginning July 1 until after 24 hours before sending his message.

Besides Lehman, those attending the conference today were Governors Quinn, of Rhode Island; Benson, of Minnesota, and La Follette, of Wisconsin.

Representative McCormack, Democrat, Massachusetts, state relief administrator, appeared for Governor Horner, of Illinois.

Harry L. Hopkins, Works Progress Administrator, who attended the conference, said the Governors want the WPA rolls kept at their present level. Hopkins said the rolls now contained about 2,200,000 persons.

Rudy Vallee Faces Assault Warrant

BOSTON, April 9.—(AP)—Rudy Vallee tonight faced a charge of assault and battery on a Boston newspaper photographer in a warrant issued by Judge Murray.

Fitzgerald also obtained a warrant charging Harry Paul, press agent employed by Vallee, with assault and battery and malicious destruction of property, his camera.

GREEN TESTIFIED TEXAS WAS HOME

1935 Transcript Offered at Close of Hearing in Florida.

MIAMI, Fla., April 9.—(AP)—A 1935 transcript of testimony in which the late Colonel E. H. R. Green swore his legal residence was in Terrell, Texas, was introduced today before the close of a hearing to determine the eccentric millionaire's official abode.

Attorneys for the widow, Mrs. Mabel Harlow Green, offered the transcript as an exhibit in the litigation over the $80,000,000 estate. When he was sued here by Waldemar Knudsen for breach of contract, Colonel Green answered asking his address.

"Will you state," Green was asked then, "about how much time you spent at these several places of abode each year as a matter of custom?"

Green replied: "Well, as to the residence part, for about 30 years I have lived in the state of Texas, in the town of Terrell, and built a lot of railroads down there and that gave me the residence of Terrell, Texas."

Crackers Break Lose To Defeat Oglethorpe Nine, 6-1

Herb Pennock will be in charge of the Red Sox when they come to our town today for two exhibition games with our lads, the Crackers.

There is a lot being written about this young feller, Bob Feller. And probably he rates it, being just 17 or thereabouts. But when Herb Pennock was that age he was winning 11 games and losing 4 for the Athletics and getting himself sold to the Boston Red Sox.

He is a little guy. At least he was the last time I saw him. And that was when he was pitching. I guess he's little yet.

It was a picture—watching him pitch. He'd stand out there and have a look at the batter. And then, very deliberately, he'd prepare for the pitch.

Miller Huggins said of him that he was the greatest left-hander in the game. And maybe he was. Certainly he was one of the smartest.

There were games, they said, in which he threw no more than five or six fast balls. He had a change of pace and a curve—and one more thing just as important. He knew where the ball was going. A lot of pitchers don't.

I wish he could pitch for an inning or so today. But, shucks, it wouldn't be the same. It never is. It would have to be a hot day. And he'd have to have on a Yankee uniform. And it would have to be a setting with a lot of people yelling. And then, very slowly, he'd rear back a bit and that curve ball would come in there—and that can't be today.

A LOT OF REAL TRAGEDY.

Rarely has a ball club run into as much real tragedy as has the Boston Red Sox team this spring. Just now Joe Cronin, the manager, is left behind in Florida, where his wife is still in a dangerous condition. The Cronins lost twin babies.

Oscar Melillo left the club to hurry home to Chicago, where his wife took a sudden turn for the worse following the birth of a son. And Eric McNair is home in Mississippi to see his motherless baby, the mother having died at the child's birth.

Those sentences look tragic enough on paper, but in actuality they are stark, soul-shaking tragedies that leave a man limp physically and his mind dull and sick. All that took a lot of baseball out of the Red Sox.

They were off to a great start. Folks around our town had a genuine liking for this major league team. They liked the way Tom Yawkey acted. And they liked the way he took his losses last year.

This year the Red Sox were going along in great style. All set for a great year. They may even yet be up there to worry the Yankees. The Yankees are pretty sure to be up there.

SY-FO'S BAR BOY TOPS AIREDALES IN DOG CARNIVAL

Atlanta Kennel Club's Mammoth Event Opens in Fine Style.

By Dean Broome.

The first of the dog days got under way yesterday as judges in the Atlanta Kennel Club's silver jubilee dog show started their annual selecting of dogdom's elite.

Alva Rosenberg started the judging yesterday morning with the terrier group, and at the same time, Mrs. Paul Hamer Obejan judged the toys. The selecting continued throughout the entire afternoon. All of the terrier, toy, and non-sporting breeds were completed and in the working division, the Great Danes and Pyrenes were judged.

Last night the Rabun Gap-Nacoochee Junior Guild topped off the dog show with a spring fashion parade, which was a factor in drawing the large crowd that was present.

The first of the winners came in the Airedale terrier class. Sy-Fo's Bar Boy, male, owned by Sy-Fo Kennels, walked off with the title of winner and best of the breed of Airedales.

ANOTHER WINNER. In the toy bitch group, Ch. Hop-O-of-Hartlebury, owned by Miss Judith Connell, took first place in the Pekinese judging.

The Boston Terriers in the non-sporting group totaled 57, the largest number of canines yet encountered by the judges at one time. Royal Model, a fine pup in the Open Dog class (under 15 pounds) led the large group as best of the winners. He is owned by Mrs. E. P. Andus, of Easton, Pennsylvania. Also among the Boston Terriers was Champion Swanson's Dottie Girl, owned by E. J. Swanson, of Atlanta.

The competition went on with howls of encouragement from the 400 dogs, as each candidate put on his best front in hopes of a chance at the coveted blue ribbon, which will be presented tonight to the dog judged best of the entire show.

All of the ritz canines were there, the locals, and the out-of-towners. There were Great Danes, the Beagles, the Bulldogs, and Dachshunds. And hotdogs for those with dimples.

Local business groups are offering a number of prizes to winners of various groups, besides the ribbons given by the Atlanta chapter of the American Kennel Club. Cash awards, loving cups, and dog foods, are among the many different prizes to go to winners from local sponsors.

CONTINUE TODAY. The second half of the show will come today and the final selections will be made by the judges tonight.

Alva Rosenberg will judge the sporting groups, starting this morning at 11 o'clock. The sporting group includes pointers, setters, spaniels and fox hounds. At 2 o'clock collies, budgies, Shetland Sheepdogs, and other breeds not provided for in the original schedule, will be chosen.

Tonight the champions will be introduced and paraded. H. H. Sacher will judge the children's handling classes, and Paul Hamer will judge the variety groups and pick the winner of the twenty-fifth annual dog show, the title that will carry with it the highest honor that can be bestowed upon any of the 400 dogs in the competition.

It is a great time for being a dog. Here are the winners:

WANER SIGNS BUC CONTRACT; REPORTS TODAY

Salary Believed To Be Between $18,000 and $20,000.

DALLAS, April 9.—(AP)—Paul Waner, three-time National league batting champion, signed his contract here today, ending his prolonged holdout with the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Waner came here from Sarasota, Fla., en route to Oklahoma. Manager Harold (Pie) Traynor, who had come to Longview with the Pirates, met Waner at a Dallas hotel. They talked things over for about 30 minutes, then "Big Poison" signed a contract which was believed to call for from $18,000 to $20,000.

Waner expressed complete satisfaction and said he would be in the lineup tomorrow when Pittsburgh plays the Chicago White Sox at Fort Worth.

Waner said he was in good condition, having worked out with the Boston Red Sox and golfed in Florida. He will play five innings tomorrow.

The Pittsburgh management does not announce salaries, but if Waner got the amount reported he will be the highest paid player the Pirates ever had. It will be his twelfth season with the Bucs.

The Rube Faces Crackers

George (Rube) Walberg, veteran Red Sox left-hander, will be Acting Manager Herb Pennock's mound choice against the Crackers in the opener of a two-game series at Ponce de Leon park today. Walberg is one of several former Philadelphia stars on the Boston team. The veteran of the Atlanta staff, Jim Lindsey, will oppose Walberg.

Vols Out To Take First Series From Crackers

Manager Richbourg Is Convinced His Nashville Club Is Improved Over Last Season.

By Jack Troy.

Here's a stirring challenge to our nine just a week before the opening of the Southern association season. Writing under his by-line in the Nashville Banner, Manager Lance Richbourg says:

"The main idea we have in mind right now is to win the opening series from Atlanta.

"I believe the fans who turn out for the exhibition games will see a team capable of doing just that."

Richbourg had this much to say about his Vols, who finished one-two-three, up to the Crackers last season:

"I am convinced that we have an improved club over last year, with more power, more speed and a better defense. While it may be somewhat of a problem now, I feel certain the pitching will work out all right. We have four fine prospects in Johnson, Watkins, Bridgens and Werk.

"Alexander at first and Chapman at third have come up to all expectations. Duke and Blakely, two other new players, form an almost unbeatable fly-chasing combination and have two of the best arms in the league.

"On attack, there isn't a set-up in the whole batting order. Nashville is as strong as any club in the league and should finish one-two-three. Personally, I think six clubs have a chance for the first division."

Freddie Russell, Banner sports editor who covered the spring action.

TECH TO OPPOSE ALABAMA TODAY IN TRACK EVENT

Jacket Netmen Invade Clemson While Golfers Play Tennessee.

By Roy White.

Three Georgia Tech athletic teams will entrain early this morning for events this afternoon, while another, the baseball team, will play a practice game with the reserves on the Rose Bowl field.

The tennis team, undefeated over a three-year period, journeys to Clemson for a match at 2 o'clock this afternoon at Clemson, South Carolina.

Tommy Barnes and his golfing mates will play the University of Tennessee a return match this afternoon on the Knoxville Country Club course.

Coach Griffin will take his track team to Tuscaloosa, Ala., for a match today with the University of Alabama.

Those players included on the tennis team are Boulware, Silva, Moore, Swift and Lindsey. Coach Bortell also will make the trip to Clemson.

OTHERS MAKE TRIP. In addition to Barnes, Atlanta's amateur champion; Billy Eager, Stanley Holditch and Willingham Smith and Coach Dennison will make the trip to Knoxville.

Dutch Konneman, Jones and Staples will represent the Jackets in the sprint events, while Kestler and Bickerstaff will be the main dependences in the middle distances. Aldridge will run the mile and two-mile events while Kestler, a fast middle distance man and recently turned hurdler, is expected to win some points in the 440, the 880 and the low hurdles.

Konneman also will be entered in the javelin, an event he won last Saturday; the shot and discus. Both the latter are new to Konneman. Mit Fitzsimons also will be entered in the shot and discus along with Price and Lott. Hyder and Tufts will run both hurdle events.

Wallis has been entered in the mile run along with Aldridge.

TENNIS HOPES HIGH. Tech has a fine chance to retain its tennis championship with another great team, but the golfers and trackmen have yet to prove their ability. The golf team has won two matches in two starts and should win again this afternoon.

Success of the track team will depend entirely on the development of Konneman. He threw the javelin for the first time last week and should be in a first place in either of the other field events, then Tech's chances will not be so slim as was expected early in the season.

Charlie Belcher proved a real find in the low hurdles when he won last week after only one run in practice. He also runs the 440 and the 880-yard events.

RED SOX INVADE PONCEY TODAY FOR 2 BATTLES

Archer Shines; Mauldin Dropped to Sixth Place in Batting Order.

By Jack Troy.

Lefty Archer, a smooth colles pitcher, held the Crackers in check for seven innings yesterday but they finally got to him in the eighth to defeat Oglethorpe, 6-1, in a snappy spring exhibition game which lasted only an hour and 35 minutes.

Archer and Bobby Durham hooked up, as they say, in a fin pitcher's duel for seven innings. Durham departed the scene with those noble lads leading, 2 to 0.

Durham allowed the Petrels only three scattered hits. He pitched conservatively, taking into consideration what the biting wind might do to a pitching arm.

Rookie Luman Harris, from Birmingham, finished up the game, yielding one more hit and the Petrels' only one in the eighth.

PETRELS MISS CHANCE. Coach Frank Anderson's Petrels missed a golden opportunity to score some runs in the eighth apparently because of a mixup in signals.

Franklin, batting for Stevenson, drew a walk. He moved up to Archer's fielder's choice, both being safe. Then Thomas singled to right. Gerald McQuaig grabbed the plate, allowing George, running for Franklin, to score, and leaving Thomas on second.

Archer on third with nobody out. Then came the big misadventure. Both runners left the bag on a pitch and Galvin chase down Archer. He immediately whipped the ball to Manager Ed Moore, playing second, and Thomas went out in the chase.

Moore to Johnny Hill. This ruined the Petrels' only scoring opportunity of the game.

MEET RED SOX. The Crackers meet the Boston Red Sox this afternoon at 2 o'clock. Big Jim Lindsey and Lo Garland will divide the pitching assignment for the Crackers. Rube Walberg will grace the mound for the gold-plated Sox.

Emil Leonard and Lefty Grov.

Sam Snead Regains Lead; Lawson Little Is Disqualified

ICARD SECOND O YOUNG STAR AT CHARLESTON

Lawson Little Ruled Out
For Improving Line of Ball's Flight.

CHARLESTON, S. C., April 9.—Sam Snead, of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., overcame the handicap of a gale-like wind today to lead back into the lead after 54 holes of the $5,000 tournament of the South Atlantic Golf and Country Club with a total of 209.

Young Snead conquered the howling winds for a third round one under par, while Henry Picard, of Hershey, Pa., the 36-hole leader, needed 76 blows and a total of 211.

Snead, a long knocker from the South, and a smooth iron player, picked up six strokes to move back to the lead which he dropped in the first round.

Jimmy Thomson, of Shawnee, Okla., the belting blond, cracked the wind for a 70 and moved ahead of Harry Cooper, of Chicago, and Johnny Revolta, of New York, who were tied at 71.

Lawson Little, of San Francisco, the former amateur champion of the world, who turned professional a year ago, was disqualified for improving the line of flight of his ball to the green after opening it from a drainage ditch.

Little, in seventh place yesterday with 144, finished the first round of today's round with an even 36, getting a par 4 on the 14th where the questioned play occurred.

Little's tee shot reached the dry creek which runs back of a wood on the left of the fairway. He was told by the chairman of the tournament committee to drop his ball in the penalty stroke on the side of the ditch away from the fairway. Instead, Little dropped his ball on the other side and drove a third shot to the pin for a birdie.

WARREN, DIXIE TO PLAY TODAY

Warren's nine will play the Dixie Mills, of LaGrange, at 3 o'clock this afternoon on the Warren athletic field on Fair street. Warren will be the second game of the season for Warren, who last Saturday defeated Fulton Bag, 6 to 1. Tom Harper will open for the Warren nine and most likely will work the entire game. Otis Davis will pitch for the visitors.

The remainder of Warren's line will include Virlyn Moore Jr., behind the plate; Carter on first; Smith on second; Dillingham at short; Sewell on third and Wood, Alorton and Morris in the outfield.

Warren will journey to Gadsden, Ala., to play the Goodyear nine 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

A series of 14 games, seven home and seven at Buford, has been scheduled with the Buford teamers, runners-up in the national semi-pro championship last year. A majority of the games with Buford will be played at night.

Time Out! By Chet Smith

Boxing Commission Adjourns Session

No Action Taken on City's Protest of Tax Receipt Cut.

Following two days' work on drafting rules by which the new Georgia State Athletic Commission will be guided in its control over professional boxing and wrestling matches, the commission yesterday adjourned without taking any positive action in Atlanta's protest of the new body's ruling that municipal commissions may assess a tax not to exceed 1 per cent on receipts at exhibitions.

Ralph McGill, chairman of the commission, was out of the city yesterday, but three other members continued sessions opened Wednesday.

Under the legislative act creating the commission, introduced at the instance of Governor Rivers, the commission is given power to fix the tax municipalities may collect on exhibitions in cities and towns, according to members of the commission contacted last night.

L. C. Burns, Savannah railroad man, who was not here for the organization meeting of the commission Wednesday, was in Atlanta yesterday and Thursday and participated in sessions of the body during those two days.

Offices of the commission have been established in the Military building on Capitol avenue and Welborn Ellis, Atlanta attorney, secretary of the commission, will be in charge.

Lester F. Elliott, Augusta, member of the commission, invited opinions from anyone interested in professional sports.

CRACKERS

will tie up in the second and final game of the series Sunday afternoon. Both games will be well worth seeing.

The biggest kick of the game yesterday came in the eighth when Big Joe Hutcherson stretched a double into a triple. His slide for life to third would have made a great action picture. The ground fairly trembled when he hit the dirt.

Hutch hit a line double which bounced off the right-field signs. And he never slowed up going into second. This was quite a surprise to the Petrel right fielder, no doubt, because Big Joe beat the throw to third with room to spare.

Right after that, Marshall Mauldin hit a short fly to center and Hutcherson tagged up and scored after the catch. Can he run this season? He not only can hit but does.

LUBY LEADS OFF Marshall Mauldin, who has been hitting in the lead-off position all spring for the Crackers, was shifted to sixth place in the batting order, with Hugh Luby moving up from sixth to lead-off yesterday.

Manager Moore said he wasn't sure whether the change was permanent or not. "I just want to see how Luby will go as a lead-off man," he said.

It's rather expected that Mauldin, who was one of the league's best lead-off men last year, will eventually be back at the top of the order before the bell rings.

Mauldin is an ace bunter and can get down that first base line faster than any Cracker with the possible exception of Emil Mailho.

The Cracker lineup was changed all around after the fifth yesterday. Rookies took over two of the outfield spots, Mauldin's went to first, Moore to second and John Amnerch to short. Jim Galvin relieved Richards behind the plate.

The move was made to give the regulars some rest.

Only Bib Joe Joe Hutcherson was the only Cracker to get two hits. The other eight allowed by Archer were spread down the batting order.

Mauldin, McQuig, DeWeese and Durham went hitless.

The Crackers scored their first run in the fifth when Chatham singled, moved up on an infield out and scored on Luby's single. Moore's double scored Amnerch's seventh. Then in the eighth, Galvin was safe on an error, advanced on a wild pitch and scored on Hutcherson's triple. Hutch scored on Mauldin's short fly. Hill doubled and scored on Amnerch's single and Luman Harris doubled to score Amnerch.

Thomas' two hits in three official trips was the bright spot in the Petrel attack.

Red Sox Drill On Tech Field.

AUBURN BEATS GEORGIA, 7 TO 4, IN FIRST GAME

Errors Costly for Both Teams; Play Again
Today.

ATHENS, Ga., April 9.—Bunching hits with costly errors, the Auburn Plainsmen today copped the first contest of the baseball series with the University of Georgia, 7-4. The second tilt will be played here Saturday afternoon.

Wallace Miller pitched the entire game for Georgia, while Coach Morgan substituted Lester Antley for Paul Tipper after a minor rally in the fourth inning.

Georgia's scores came in the third when Albert Collins and Alf Anderson crossed home plate on Bill Hartman's double. The Bulldogs managed to push across another tally in the fourth when Cavan scored on Wallace Miller's single.

Another tally in the seventh by Alf Anderson after he had tripped to get on third, ended Georgia's scoring. Auburn chalked up three unearned runs in this inning.

Play on the part of Georgia was spotty at best. John Rucker, Bulldog third baseman, was forced to miss the game. Billy Mims was moved in from the outer garden to fill in his shoes. He crashed out two singles in five times at bat and committed a single error.

VOLS OUT TO WIN OPENING SERIES

tivities of the Vols, who couldn't win for losing the majority of the times they faced the Crackers last season, thinks Calvin Chapman will be the ace of league third basemen.

Freddie also figures on big Dale Alexander's power at the plate driving home many a runner, especially in Nashville. Alexander, a right-handed hitter, hits to right considerably. Hence he's made to order for Sulphur Dell.

The main thing is, however, that the Vols think they can come right into Ponce de Leon and chase the Crackers out of their home park.

That's something for our Noble Vols to consider. In the past, they have taken a lot of chasing. The Vain Vols are at it again. They still talk a good game.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., April 9.—(AP)—Three holders of pari-mutuel tickets on the winning combination in the daily double at the Jacksonville Kennel Club track collected $1,053.40 each tonight—longest price of the season.

BARON REGS TRIM ROOKS.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 9.—(AP)—The Baron regular squad trimmed the rookies, 5 to 1, in a club game today. The second-stringers' tally was a home run by Stephenson, outfielder. The first-stringer got nine hits off Braun, and Joiner gave up four to the rookies.

BREAK O' DAY

Even if Red Ruffing does sail over to merry England to see the King crowned, the Yankees should come through.

THEY GET "OLD" QUICKLY.

Jimmy Foxx, who has belted one of his spring home runs, will be along. They age quickly in this baseball business. Here is a young fellow who came along to Connie Mack in 1925 as a catcher, aged 17 years.

Home Run Baker, so the story goes, had recommended him to Connie Mack. And Jimmy Foxx, made into an outfielder, became even more famous as a hitter of home runs than did Frank Baker.

Foxx is 29 years old. And already is looked upon as one of the game's veterans. He'll be one of the attractions out there today. He and Bob Grove, both of whom Connie Mack, with tears in his eyes, sold to Tom Yawkey.

Bob Grove is 37 this year. And a lot of dollars have been written on checks because of him.

The late Jack Dunn, who was the smartest peddler of all in the baseball business, peddled him to the Athletics for $100,000. That was in 1924. And when Connie Mack peddled him to Tom Yawkey the check again was for more than $100,000.

And now, Connie Mack, getting well along in his seventies, is building up another ball club. He may do rather well by 1938.

OUR OWN BRAVE LADS.

Unless the rain has washed it all away, those Brave Lads of ours, the Crackers, look like the best bet in our league.

The weather has been atrocious, or vile, depending on the attitude. And yet no ball club, unless it is New Orleans, will be ready. The start in our league is just Friday. Those Vols will be there that day. Those Vols that again are claiming the pennant. They've been claiming it up there since 1916, which was the last time the town saw a flag. And one of these years they are pretty sure to hit. You wouldn't think they'd have been wrong a mere matter of 21 years, but they have.

The pitching today, and that of Sunday, will be about all the real pitching the team will face until Washington comes along to supply the last bit. The team has seen practically no pitching all this spring.

Still, the club looks like the best bet. But the look would mean a lot more if the pitchers had had time to get in shape. They haven't had a chance. It requires good, old-fashioned sweating to get a ball club ready. And those lads of ours have hardly perspired.

Still, I like them to win.

CASE ACE RUNS THIS AFTERNOON

NEW YORK, April 9.—(AP)—

Case Ace, one of the outstanding eligibles for the Kentucky Derby from Mrs. Ethel V. Mars' Milky Way farm, returns to competition tomorrow against 11 older rivals in the six furlongs of the $2,000 Blue Bonnet handicap at Arlington Downs.

The son of Teddy, winner of three of his four stars as a two-year-old, has been out once this year, winning in a gallop at Santa Anita. Since then he has been training soundly, turning in several fast workouts at the Downs.

Together with Mrs. E. H. Bartlett's Zevson, a consistent performer at New Orleans, Case Ace has been asked to pick up top weight of 116 pounds and give from 2 to 1.4 to his more experienced rivals. Nevertheless he'll probably be favored to whip such fine sprinters as Mrs. A. M. Crech's Reaping, C. E. Davison's Boston Sound, Mrs. C. E. Allen's Bacon and Zevson.

E. B. Bryson's Calumet Dick and Mrs. Walter O'Hara's combination of New Deal and Mucho Gusto will renew their rivalry in the mile and a sixteenth of the $3,000 Southern Maryland handicap at Bowie.

In the Bowie handicap a week ago, Calumet Dick showed his heels to New Deal and Mucho Gusto finished second and third, respectively. There has been a shift in the weights for the Southern Maryland, however, with the Bryson colt assigned top weight of 121 pounds, Mucho Gusto 115 and New Deal 114.

CONSTITUTIONALITY OF SECURITIES ACT UPHELD IN DECISION

Judge Underwood Sustains 14 of 15 Counts in Kopald-Quinn Indictment.

Constitutionality of sections of the securities act of 1933 involved in demurrers filed by defendants in the Kopald-Quinn "bucketshop" charges were upheld yesterday by Federal Judge E. Marvin Underwood.

Judge Underwood sustained 14 of the 15 counts in the indictment, dismissing the remaining count on a jurisdictional ground. He held the proper venue is in the Rome division of the northern district of Georgia.

The decision handed down yesterday disposed of all motions and pleas made on behalf of the defendants with the exception of the motion for a continuance of the trial, now set for April 19. Hearing on this motion will be held Monday morning before Judge Underwood. Defense attorneys entered a plea for continuance on the grounds that auditors require three months additional to examine books of the defendant companies. The defendants have already been granted one continuance from the first trial date of March 15. Judge Underwood indicated at that time he considered the additional month sufficient time for the preparation of the defense.

CUMMINGS TO REPORT ON STEEL 'COLLUSION'

WASHINGTON, April 9.—(AP)—Attorney General Cummings will report soon, President Roosevelt said today, on an investigation of identical bidding on steel and some other commodities.

Last June, the President asked the Justice Department to take "appropriate action" on a trade commission report accusing the United States Steel Corporation, Bethlehem Steel Corporation, Jones and Laughlin Steel Corporation and Inland Steel Company, of collusive bidding.

The commission report said there were reasonable grounds to believe the anti-trust laws had been violated.

ATLANTA THEATER NEWS

'Love Is News' Is News; Picture Highly Praised

Clever and entertaining are the words for "Love Is News," new starring vehicle for that new star, Tyrone Power, which opened a week's run yesterday at the Fox theater.

Swiftly-paced and with plot twists and turns that make for genuine comedy, the film tells a rapid-fire story in the best modern manner.

It is an ideal vehicle for young Power, who seems to have what it takes, and the supporting cast includes Loretta Young, Don Ameche, also a skyrocketing newcomer to screenland; Slim Summerville, Dudley Digges, Walter Catlett, Jane Darwell, George Sanders, Stepin Fetchit and Pauline Moore. In addition, Tay Garnett, the director, has interwoven deft touches that give punch-and-go to the story. It's a newspaper yarn, but with none of the stereotype humors that made lesser films less enjoyable.

"Love Is News" is fast-moving, grand entertainment. To complete the program, short subjects are shown.—M. H.

GROWERS' CARTEL URGED AT PARLEY

World Textile Meeting Hears Plan of Indian To Aid Farmers.

WASHINGTON, April 9.—(AP)—India proposed to the World Textile Conference today that cotton growers and manufacturers set up an international cartel to regulate sales and stabilize prices.

It was the first time the cotton farmers' interest in world textile trade had been brought into the discussion.

Sir Firoz Kahn Noon, Indian, government delegate, said the conference should "consider the advisability of setting up an international cotton committee composed of representatives of cotton growers and manufacturers from principal cotton producing and manufacturing nations to regulate sales and stabilize prices of raw cotton."

The European cartel or "trust" has not met favor in the past among American business interests.

POGANY, FILM ARTIST, IS SUED FOR DIVORCE

LOS ANGELES, April 9.—(AP)—Willy Pogany, magazine cover designer and film artist, was sued for divorce today by Lillian Pogany, who charged he deserted her in 1930 and fell in love with another woman.

Mrs. Pogany asked $500-a-month alimony, $5,000 attorney fees and custody of a son, Peter, 16.

She also asked that the court set aside a Mexican divorce which she said her husband caused her to get in 1933.

The suit said they were married in London in 1908.

'Racketeers in Exile' Opens Run at Rialto

A new and powerful drama, "Racketeers in Exile," was unfolded yesterday on the screen of the Rialto theater with George Bancroft, two-fisted portrayer of he-man roles, in the starring spot.

The film tells a compelling story of redemption, and the supporting cast includes Evelyn Venable, Wynne Gibson, Marc Lawrence, Richard Carle, George McKay and other capable players.

Bancroft is excellent as the leader of a gang of racketeers, while the supporting players turn in above-average performances.

The picture was directed by Erle C. Kenton, from a story by Harry Sauber. It is filled with exciting incident and leads to a climax that packs a real wallop.

You'll like the novelty of the plot, for it, deals with Bancroft, hiding out in his home town, becoming reformed when the townspeople believe he is a local boy who made good, and not a criminal.

Short features complete the bill.—P. C. L.

Weird, Uncanny 'Flamingo Music' Awes Cain in Silent African Town

Sound of Many Flutes Sings Past Lonely White Boy in Supernatural Beauty as He Strolls Through Village at Night.

Arthur Cain, returned from a two-year hitchhiking arroyo of the world, is writing a series of stories, recounting some of the startling experiences of his journeys which could not be told in the letters he wrote while still away from home. Another of the series is presented today.

By ARTHUR CAIN.

So many people have asked me what I meant by "flamingo music" the other day I guess I'll have to let my hair down and try to describe this uncanny phenomenon. Be it known in advance, however, that I have no explanation for it whatsoever and must merely relate my experience with the legendary ghost of northern Africa. I am not even certain just why it is called "flamingo" unless the weird sounds are suggestive of the whirr of the great birds in flight. The legend itself is lost in timeless antiquity.

I had been in the village of Rabat for several days before proceeding on to Casa Blanca and looking for a ship. Rabat is only a matter of a few miles from the Moroccan seaport and I was content to wait on the camel train, which was unloading most of its wares on the outskirts of the city. A few miles makes a big difference in that section of the world. No authorities were there to pest me, no white men to ask why I was in such strange company. Temporarily at least, everything was well.

The night before we left I had my experience with the supernatural. I was not superstitious and am not superstitious now. Nor do I believe in ghosts of the Flying Dutchman or in the many forms of psychic fakery with which the seers cajole the public. But things seem so different when seen from the interior of Africa it is hard to be certain about anything now.

In Possession of Senses.

I am reasonably sure my somewhat muddled mental condition had nothing to do with the phenomena. I had become accustomed to the sun and since the climate had been gradually growing more moderate as we traveled away from the equator the heat no longer bothered me. I was in full possession of my senses.

This particular night differed from the rest in only one respect, the stars were hidden by one of the rare thick mists which infrequently envelop the desert. There was no moon and the soft night breezes had ceased altogether. Otherwise everything was perfectly normal and Cain was penning a very tardy letter to his readers back home.

It was nearly midnight when we decided to take a walk away from the camp of the caravan and investigate the village itself. The natives were no longer curious about me and I came and went without being noticed. I felt I should at least be prepared to describe this vivid desert stronghold.

SANTEE'S GEOLOGY TOLD BY WITNESS

Limestone, Fast-Growing Pine Described by Clemson Professor.

COLUMBIA, S. C., April 9.—(UP)—"Economic geology" was inserted into the Santee-Cooper trial today as defense witness Fred H. H. Calhoun, professor of geology at Clemson College, S. C., testified as to the value of the natural resources as he found them within a 100-mile radius of the proposed Santee-Cooper power project.

Throughout most of the day the geology professor lauded the character of the limestone within the radius, the pine trees, and supply of hardwood timber.

Late this afternoon, the defense sought to pursue the timber issue still further, and placed on the stand H. A. Smith, state forester. Calhoun pointed out that "pines grow more rapidly here than any other area in the United States," and linked with this the assertion that, "the more rapid the growth, the more suitable it is for pulp."

Professor Says U. S. Will Enter Next War Early

NEW ORLEANS, April 9.—(AP)—Dr. Charles W. Pipkin, dean of the graduate school of Louisiana State University, told the Southern Federation of College Students and Press Representatives in convention here today that if there is another world war, "America could not remain out of it for three months."

"We have repudiated our past," he told the students. "We went to war to make the world safe for democracy, and today there is less democracy than before that conflict."

"We live in a world of fear and under an unplanned economic system. It is a system, to quote a leader of the present administration, under which we may always expect six or seven million unemployed men in the United States."

"This is a challenge to the college youth of today. Revolt against the stupidity and injustice of our time and accept that challenge."

ROOSEVELT DENIES GOLD CUT REPORT

Widely Circulated Rumor Affected Prices in Markets of World.

WASHINGTON, April 9.—(AP)—President Roosevelt, scotching a rumor which sped through world financial centers this week, said today he knew of no plan to lower the price of gold.

It had been rumored that the United States contemplated cutting its $35-an-ounce price, which largely sets the world price.

Mr. Roosevelt told his press conference, however, that neither he nor the treasury knew of any plan to whittle the world price. To the contrary, he said, the executive commented only that this was interesting. He said he believed the flurry of gold rumors originated largely in the foreign press.

The gold reports circulated widely both in this country and abroad. They contributed to a decline in security and commodity markets in New York Wednesday, and were held partly responsible by some observers for a drop in the French franc in international exchange markets today.

The French treasury repudiated, however, that the franc had been permitted to fall to stimulate tourist trade.

Great Britain, France and the United States—participants in the tri-power monetary agreement—apparently have been content, however, to permit slight variations in relationships of the three currencies without any attempt to effect a general realignment.

GOLD SHARES FALL, RISE AT JOHANNESBURG

JOHANNESBURG, Union of South Africa, April 9.—(AP)—Gold shares tumbled but climbed back on the Johannesburg Stock Exchange today.

A rumor—later officially denied—that the United States planned to reduce the price of gold was responsible for the break, which in some cases was as great as 45 points.

Denial of the rumor that the United States would lower the gold prices brought renewed confidence.

Macon Women Sell Tallulah Tags Today

MACON, Ga., April 9.—The Macon Women's Club will sponsor sale of tags on Macon streets on Saturday for the benefit of the Tallulah Falls school.

Founders, Patriots To Unveil Tablet

Georgia Chapter, Daughters of Founders and Patriots of America will unveil a bronze tablet on the corner of Lee and Gordon streets next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The tablet bears the following inscription: "At or near this site stood a large frame structure, built in 1935 by Charner Humphries and operated by him as a tavern until April 4, 1855. White Hall was designated an election precinct December 21, 1835, and continued as such until December 26, 1845, when the name Marthasville was changed to Atlanta and the election precinct was transferred to that growing metropolis. White Hall was a coach stop and postoffice on the Lawrenceville-Newnan route. Whitehall street was named for the old tavern."

Governor Rivers and Mayor Hartsfield have been invited to accept the marker for the state and city. Representatives from the Chamber of Commerce and Atlanta Historical Society will also be present. ## FRIENDLY COUNSEL

By CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

A young Minneapolis husband who styles himself "a mystified married man looking for light" would like to have some tips on how to keep a wife in love. He complains that many men, one of whom he's which seems to lose his cunning after the ceremony. He asks rather cynically: What do women want? What do they expect? Simply enough they want in the persons of their husbands, lovers, companions and providers. They expect loyalty, devotion, generosity, approval and partnership in every phase of their husbands' lives. They expect to have a perpetual romance that loses none of its sweetness but "suffers sea change into something rich and strange." No husband need lose his cunning after the ceremony if he keeps his perspective. He needs to lose his wife's love if he treats her with indifference, neglect, the consideration and courtesy that he treated her B.C. He can get and keep a strangle hold on her until death do them part if only he will whisper sweet nothings in her ear when they are in private, show her deference when they are in public, give her his confidence, close and complete, tickle her vanity with a compliment now and again, remember her birthday and wedding anniversary with gifts, have eyes for her only and keep her assured that she is his bright and morning star.

There's no trick in a man's keeping his wife in love with him. It's routine stuff. She is more anxious to stay in love with him than he is to have her stay in love with him. He's the axis about which her life revolves. He's the wall to which she sends out and every shoot that would fasten themselves to him. Either he is the father of her children or he is the child that compensates her for having no children. He is her whole existence and her love for him will take a lot of punishment before it is done to death.

A mystified married man looking for light on the subject of his wife's losing her taste for him should take stock of himself and see where he is different from the courting beau he once was. Maybe he has forgot to practice some of the pre-marriage pretty talk. Maybe he no longer indulges in the pre-marriage generosity, the possible that the daily bath and shave, the clean linen, the neatly pressed clothes and the shined shoes are things of the past. It is conceivable he no longer mentions the movie or the dance or the diversion but comes home in the evening takes off his shoes, puts on the carpet slippers and lets the old rocking chair get him. Husbands have been known to growl about the grocery bills and put up nothing for the new bonnet. And the meanness among them sometimes spend the surplus on themselves and let their wives do without.

Generally speaking (barring, of course, the wives that got married for meat-tickets) a woman will continue to love her husband to the end if only he will put her first in his life, assure her of his dependence upon her, his pride and satisfaction in her. He may lose his hair and his waistline, his looks and his nerve but he won't lose her so long as he opens his mind, his heart and his purse (poor though it is) to her.

Every husband should apply his business methods to matrimony, take inventory on his wedding anniversary, determine what he has left of his courting-beau stock in trade, enter his findings in a ledger so he can compare each succeeding year with former years. It would make interesting reading but wonder if the wives would have the heart to look at the ledgers.

World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst.

Herewith is presented another portion of Mr. Culbertson's latest work on contract, the "Gold Book of Bidding and Play," which is being reproduced in this column in daily installments.

Strong and Weak Overcalls.
Some overcalls warn partner that the bidding is made primarily for defensive purposes and that he must bid, if at all, on his own resources. These are:

(a) Minimum (nonjump) overcall in a suit. (b) Pre-emptive overcalls at the level of three or four. Other bids tell partner that the hand is strong. The defenders' strong bids are:

(a) An immediate overcall in a suit previously bid by the opponents. (b) A takeout double. (c) A jump overcall to two of a suit. (d) An overcall of one, two or three no trump. (e) A no trump overcall of opponents' opening pre-emptive bid for four or five.

'YOUR FIGURE, MADAME!'

By IDA JEAN KAIN.

ARE YOU DOING YOUR EXERCISE CORRECTLY?

Beauty is no longer a thing that you have or you haven't, and as I told you last Monday, exercise is the main part of your beauty program in the streamlines thirties.

In the struggle to vanquish inches you must have an accurately worked out exercise program. Regularity is the first of the basic rules for remodeling your figure. The daily dozen must be taken every day in the week. If you take your exercise at a gym class, attend regularly—twice a week. Spasmodic exercises taken only when you are in an ambitious mood makes your muscles sore instead of supple.

Early morning is an excellent time for the overweight to exercise. Slow-moving, overweights need speeding up. Besides, exercise before breakfast calls on reserve energy (stored calories), since the sugars and starches of the previous day have been largely used up.

Being a stimulant, exercise early in the morning is inadvisable for the thin, tense individuals who are already too highly geared. However, the disadvantages of exercise by the clock often outweigh the advantages, when time is so precious. For the housewife, the most convenient time is around the middle of the morning, and for the business and professional girl, after five.

Exercise should not be taken immediately after meals, since such exertion interferes with digestion. The rule is to wait at least an hour after eating.

There is no reason why you cannot exercise every day in the month. Although jumping, or jarring movements, should be avoided, mild exercise may be continued to advantage through the monthly period. It is much easier to keep on with exercise than to begin anew after an interruption.

It is important to have plenty of fresh air in the room where in rolling exercises—should be done on a hard surface. Use a rug or mat spread over the floor. This will not only prove more effective in wearing off the bulges, but will prevent slumping of the spine into faulty posture.

Stretching exercises are general in their results. They exhilarate the circulation and keep you young. Twisting exercises effect the waistline area, and jumping and swinging involve the muscles of legs, hips and thighs. Arm exercises from a horizontal position banish underarm flabbiness, improve the shoulders and normalize the bust.

You cannot be lazy or careless in your figure program, for inches are dealing with excess inches. Begin with stretching exercises for supple muscles.

Hollywood Today

By SHEILAH GRAHAM.

HOLLYWOOD, April 10.—Hollywood contains more wealthy people per square foot than anywhere else in the world. But many of them are unmarried, a large percentage lack children, and most are younger than those nearest in the line of inheritance. It is interesting to speculate on who will ultimately get the money amassed by movie star millionaires.

Take the fortune of Clark Gable. For several years his salary has been over $50,000 a week. His popularity is still very high, and there should be plenty of money to be distributed according to Clark's last will and testament. The actor has a mother and father living, but will, in all probability, depart this life before their son. He is divorced from his first wife and separated from his second, but they are both older than he is.

Of course, he may marry one day—although Mrs. Reta Gable has shown no signs as yet of putting the screen lover back in circulation. When and if she does, Gable will almost surely marry a woman younger than himself—perhaps Carole Lombard—if she will wait that long—in which case, she would receive the bulk of his fortune. Meanwhile, Clark has solved part of his problem by investing heavily in annuities that cease payment with his demise.

Miss Lombard herself will have a tidy sum of money salted away by the time she calls quits with life. Carole is still under 30, and if she doesn't wait until too late will probably have children when she remarries. Failing offspring, "Fieldie" (Madelyn Fields), her secretary-intimate, will be a wealthy woman one day.

A young actor, by name Sven Gustafson, now working in Swedish pictures, is first in line for the fortune carried by the former sister, Greta Garbo. Second on the list is Salka Viertel, writer and closet boobyhood friend of the Swedish actress. Swedish charities are also expected to figure largely in the Garbo will.

Douglas Fairbanks Sr. is credited with $500,000 in securities. His recent marriage with the former Lady Sylvia Ashley, 20 years his junior, has simplified his bequeathing problems, and she will share in the bulk of the money with Douglas Fairbanks Jr.

Mary Pickford's intention to wed Buddy Rogers has resulted in a similar simplification of possible heirs to her estate, estimated at between $500,000 and $1,000,000. Adopted niece Gwynne Pickford will be another important legatee.

The disposal of Charlie Chaplin's millions presents no difficulty. His young sons—and Paulette Goddard, if she remains friendly that long—will spend his money.

Childless Joan Crawford is currently crazy about Baby Joan Lewis, daughter of brother Harold. She has made no secret of her wish to adopt her niece and to name her heiress to the large fortune she has collected in picture work.

Thrifty Miriam Hopkins has reportedly saved $500,000 during her years as a film actress. Her fortune should be doubled by the time her husband, Charles, dies, and she is to the estate is founding Michael, now four years old and adopted from Chicago's "cradle."

Other lucky baby heirs to big fortunes through adoption include Barbara Stanwyck's Dion: Joany; year old Benny; Irene Frances adopted daughter, Mary Frances Griffin; Wallace Beery's Carol; Penny and Tony, who now belong to the Fredric Marches; Constance Bennett's adopted son, Peter; and Peggy Lloyd, who will share with Harold Lloyd's blood children the millions he leaves behind him.

Among the babies with the good sense to pick film stars for parents are William Powell, Jr., 11-year-old heir to his $200,000 per picture parent, Eddie G. Robinson; the Leslie Howard son and daughter; John Barrymore's three children—if there is anything left for them by the time Caliban loses the marrying habit; Fred Astaire, Jr., who will never have to tap dance for a living like his famous daddy; Norma Shearer's two young children, who also share in the millions left by their late mother, Irving Thalberg's Marie; Bing Dietrich's three babies; Robert Montgomery's girls, and Spencer Tracy's son and daughter.

Jeanette MacDonald is being married in June to Gene Raymond. Unless the couple have children, the heirs to the fortune she has accumulated via the stage and screen will probably be her younger sister and Mr. Raymond.

Grace Moore has a grown-up baby brother in Texas. Her husband, Valentin Parera, also has a four-year-old niece, now in Spain, and the lucky pair are destined for a large percentage of the money earned by Grace during her long career in opera and the movies.

Distribution of the nest egg accumulated by Ronald Colman presents a difficult problem. The recently dissolved marriage of the 46-year-old actor was minus child. He has few relations he cares about. His buddy, William Powell, is only one year younger than he and does not enjoy as excellent health. There remains only his current feminine friend, Benita Hume. Perhaps she will have the spending of the Colman money.

Equally difficult to forecast at the moment are the heirs to the $1,000,000 fortune now being accumulated by cinema actresses Emilie, Marie, Yvonne, Cecile and Annette Dionne. Also that in process of creation by 8-year-old Shirley Temple. It is reasonable to presume the girls will outlive their relatives, and unless they beget a new crop in the form of children, their money may go to anyone from the government to an institution.

And talking about the government, maybe, by the time it finishes taxing the aforementioned

My Day

By ELEANOR ROOSEVELT

WASHINGTON, Thursday.—We had a luncheon attended by some 50-odd ladies yesterday, all interested in the Democratic national committee. I had invited them to meet the new director of the women division, Mrs. Thomas McAllister, and her assistant, Mrs. May Evans, of North Carolina. Both these ladies are young and pretty and that is a great advantage in political work, for it makes the gentlemen so much happier when you have to take up their time.

However, youth and beauty will not get you very far permanently unless you have a few more solid qualities behind them. There is no question that women who are going to work in their party's political organization, no matter what the play may be, will need tact and perseverance, the wisdom of the serpent and the guileless appearance of the dove.

The women members of congress at the luncheon were all in a great hurry to get away for fear a bill, in which they all seemed to be interested, might come up before their return. Later in the day I was amused to have some male members of congress come in late for a bill that came up for a vote.

Yesterday afternoon I had two rather large teas of a general nature because the end of the season is drawing near and, except for a few garden parties in May, there will only be receptions for groups of people belonging to organizations which are holding their conventions here and for special groups which are visiting the city.

Mrs. William Brown Meloy came down from New York to spend the night, and James and Betsy came over to join us for dinner. We had a light and amusing movie for them. The youngsters felt the need of something to take their minds off the excitement of the past few days, caused by little Sara's appendicitis operation. She is doing very well, however, and only wonders why she is not allowed to laugh.

This morning John, a friend of mine, went for a ride. I had worked late last night and felt a little fresh air would be good for my disposition. We returned in time to have lunch with a very distinguished group of doctors who are interested in a recent report which has been published by the American Foundation. Afterwards, we attended a conference lasting about an hour.

Then I took them all on a brief tour of the second floor of the White House. It seemed to interest them, through the fact that they had to make a train made a number of them keep their eyes on the watches because of the time.

It is very stimulating to talk with a group of this kind. You feel that here are men who are primarily interested in their work quite aside from reward it might bring them. Not that rewards are to be despised, but to doctors, their work is all-important, they dream of great accomplishments, they take pride in the scientific attitude of approach to the problems in their field. These things are so much more important to them than the desire for personal recognition of any kind.

PLEASANT HOMES

By ELIZABETH McRAE BOYKIN

PICTURES FOR SUMMER.

hang up fresh clear pictures that aren't so serious and sober. Flowers or bird prints or etchings... a copy of a bright modern painting or some casual decorative picture that appeals. Simple frames are nicest for pictures like these... sometimes they can be painted to repeat a color in the room.

Interesting Arrangement for Small Pictures.

And experiment with interesting groupings... four small uniformly framed pictures to go over the mantel for instance, two above the other, with or without a wall paper border around the grouping to tie them together. This arrangement is a pleasant change from the expected large painting and it's not a bad idea for the year around if you don't have a large picture of importance and don't have small ones that you'd like to spotlight. Or put them over your sofa if that's your problem wall.

We saw a living room that looked so cool and refreshing, no altogether because the pictures were hung this way over the mantel, but we're certain they had something to do with it. Aquamarine walls, a printed linen sofa cover predominantly terra-cotta for the sofa, gossamer white net curtains and no draperies, a deep

West End Woman's Club Installs Officers at Impressive Services

A bit of contrasting edging around the collar and revers is always neat and stylish. The belt is of the same fabric as the waist, and ties in a simple bow that helps the waistline. Try this in sheer cottons and have a perfect daytime dress for all summer.

church voted to declare the Atlanta Baptist church pulpit vacant at an eight-hour, postponed session Wednesday. The other action, supporting pastor Larty to resign his office to abolish the board of deacons, meanwhile, the Rev. Mr. Larty was quoted as predicting an appeal to the congregation at church services tomorrow will win back the pulpit for him. Church officials, he said they doubted the pastor will be allowed to return at the Sunday services.

The ousted minister yesterday stated that many active members of the church were not at the conference session Wednesday when he was discharged. "Inactive members are not expected to vote again," he stated. Heated argument, hymns, prayers and controversy over rules of order featured the ouster conducted which the Rev. Mr. Larty presided.

Offerings last month amounted to $24,073.71, as compared with $18,995.01 in March, 1936. The largest items in the receipts last month were $15,840.58 from the Baptist co-operative program, $6,511.68 from the Hundred Club.

The Hundred Thousand debt paying organization of the Southern Baptists, provided the largest amount of any month the club was started four years ago, Dr. Lawrence stated.

DAVIS TO DISCUSS PLANS TO DISARM, LONDON INDICATES

Britain Willing To Consider
Limit When She Is Fully Armed.

LONDON (Saturday) April 10. (UP)—Norman H. Davis, President Roosevelt's roving ambassador who is investigating Europe's war fears, probably will go to Geneva May 6 for a session of the steering committee of the long-defunct disarmament conference, it was revealed today.

The disclosure came after Davis conferred late yesterday with the British foreign minister, Anthony Eden, and Charles Spinasse, French minister of national economy.

With Eden he discussed the plight of European nations engulfed in the most gigantic arms race of all times.

The session of the disarmament steers will be boycotted by Italy and Germany.

In his conversations yesterday Davis obtained a clear picture of the conflicts in the path of any peace crusade.

A bloc of small European democracies are urging all the great powers to initiate a move for armament limitation and economic settlement.

England is ready, Davis was told, to assist in any new concerted attempt toward world pacification—but not until after the British preparedness program has reached its peak.

The Spanish civil war brought new complications to the international troubles when Ivan Maiky, Russian ambassador to London, delivered a virtual ultimatum to the international non-intervention committee demanding that a "deadline" be fixed for Italy's refusal to discuss the recall of her volunteers in Spain.

HUNT SURRENDERS ON GIRL'S CHARGES

Previous Offer To Post Bond
Without Appearing Meets Rejection.

LOS ANGELES, April 9.—(AP) John W. Hunt, 33, west coast leader in the Father Divine cult movement, surrendered late today at the United States marshal's office on Mann act charges.

Hunt appeared unexpectedly within two hours after an attempt was made to "surrender" him without producing him personally or giving federal officers who have sought him two weeks even a glimpse of him.

Hunt's brother, Warren Hunt, appeared at Head's office, exhibited $5,000 and offered to post bond to guarantee the fugitive former advertising man would be in court when his trial is called.

United States Commissioner David B. Head rejected the proposal.

Hunt is accused of bringing 17-year-old Delight Bennett, Denver high school girl, to his pretentious Beverly Hills home and betraying her.

POLICE LACK CLUES IN IRWIN SEARCH

Official Describes Suspect as
'Stark Mad,' Dangerous to Community.

NEW YORK, April 9.—(AP)—Admittedly without a clue as to the whereabouts of Robert Irwin, latest suspect in the Gedeon murder mystery, Assistant Chief Inspector Lyons tonight warned that the missing sculptor's mental instability made him "a danger to the citizens of the community wherever he might be."

"Irwin is definitely a sick man," he said. "He is stark mad and must be picked up."

Because of his psychopathic background—he formerly was a voluntary inmate of Rockland county hospital for the insane, Irwin probably never would be prosecuted for the triple slaying on Beekman hill Easter morning, Lyons said.

Police have theorized that "Ronnie" Gedeon, 20-year-old artist's model, was slain by an intruder who already had killed her mother and she arrived home from a party.

TORNADO HURTS 2 Baby Twister Visits Miami; Moves House 50 Feet.

MIAMI, Fla., April 9.—(UP)—A "baby" tornado, whipping down on the southwest section of Miami before dawn today, injured two persons, demolished a small frame house and damaged several other homes.

Sam Scowins, 58, received serious head injuries and Mrs. Lillian Brewer, 40, bruises, when the house in which they were collapsed.

The high winds, which accompanied a severe rain and electrical storm, blew Scowins' small frame home about 50 feet from its foundation. Several sturdier homes nearby were unroofed. Shrubs and trees were uprooted and electrical service was disrupted briefly.

WOMAN FINDS MATE BURNED IN HOME FIRE

DAHLONEGA, Ga., April 9.—Clarence Parks, 23, who lived about two miles from Dahlonega, today was found burned to death in his home.

Parks' wife, returning home from Dahlonega, found his body, the clothing entirely burned away, lying before an open fire.

A field hand working near the Parks home reported he had smelled cloth burning, but had heard no outcry.

2 JUSTICES CLASH ON SECURITY TEST

Butler and Brandeis Disagree
Over Extent of Questioning.

WASHINGTON, April 9.—(AP)—A government spokesman told the supreme court today that a decision upholding the federal security law would be "the greatest contribution during this generation to the art of government in this country."

Robert H. Jackson, assistant attorney general, made this statement.

Justice Roberts, whose vote might determine whether the act is sustained or overthrown, since it has been the deciding factor in some other cases, remained silent during the five-hour argument.

The debate was completed late in the day after a denunciation of the measure by Niel P. Sterne, attorney for the Charles C. Stewart Machine Company of Alabama. Sterne contended the law illegally coerces the states to act as the federal government will.

Justice Brandeis commented: "The question before the court is whether this particular purpose of the legislation exceeds the power of congress. It is very interesting to consider, as an academic matter, where to draw the line, but I find it difficult to see where that is related to the question before us."

"I suggest it is not fantastic to say that, if one is within the reach of congress, the other is not far removed," he asserted, raising his voice.

Writer Points Dangers of Secrecy on Flight Plans

Emrys Jones, writing in the Daily Express on "Famous People Are Public Property," criticized Lindbergh for his secrecy when flying and pictured what might happen should the noted flyer really crash.

Jones' remarks were simultaneous with the Lindberghs' arrival from Munich where they took off in their monoplane without revealing their destination. Lindbergh merely said he was "heading westward."

Monday, Lindbergh refused to tell Zagreb, Yugoslavia, officials where he was going and for more than 30 hours he was unreported.

Four planes retraced the Zagreb-Vienna route as fears increased that the tiny 200-horsepower motor had failed Lindbergh in the Alps. Unannounced, he landed at Munich.
